

Lehman Says Farmers Need Better Program, Markets and Education

Governor Says Also That State Agriculture Now Is at a New "Crossroads" in a Speech at Ithaca.

25 YEARS' CHANGE

Farmers Must Face Necessity for Change in Same Spirit as Their Fathers.

Ithaca, N. Y., Feb. 15 (AP).—Asserting that New York state agriculture now is at "another crossroads," Governor Herbert H. Lehman today pointed out three fundamental ways for farmers to "meet the challenge of change in the present and in the future."

The state's chief executive presented his plan to farmers and agricultural experts gathered here for the annual farm and home week at Cornell University. His suggestions were:

- 1.—An intelligent, well-laid out rural program for every farm county and for the state itself.
 - 2.—Better marketing of farm products with farmers assuming more responsibility for improving this important branch of agriculture through strong cooperatives.
 - 3.—Making more education available to rural people as a foundation for better farming and living.
- "It is possible for the farmers of a county to map out a program which will take into consideration not only the soil but changing conditions, a program which will recognize new and changing markets, and which will contain suggestions for crop and animal practices in that county leading toward giving the consumer what he wants when he wants it," Mr. Lehman said in explanation of his first point.

Good Roads
The planning program should provide, the governor added, for good, hard-surfaced farm-to-market roads, a well-planned tax program to pay for improvements, improvement in electric service to farms and use of abandoned and unproductive land for forests and parks.

The problem of marketing farm products Mr. Lehman described as "a hard nut to crack" because "the farmer can solve his production problems as an individual, but cannot market his product in these modern times without cooperating with his neighbors." Farmers find this difficult, he added, because of their strong individualism but "it is my conclusion that if farmers would cooperate as they should both producers and consumers would soon benefit immeasurably."

Fifth in Income
Mr. Lehman pointed out that New York state in 1933 ranked 22nd among all states in rural farm population but was fifth in income from farm production, rising from ninth place in 1929.

Despite the depression, he said, New York state farmers continued to maintain their business through the years and "whenever the pinch of hard times comes, eastern agriculture, through better organization, through diversification, to meet changes, seems able to stand up and come through on its own feet better than does agriculture of almost any other section of the country."

Answering his own question as to prospects of agriculture and farmers in the future the governor said he believed "New York state farmers have a much better opportunity to make good on the land than their fathers had."

Adjustments Necessary
"But even your fathers found adjustments necessary," he added, "so will you and your children. The last 25 years has seen fundamental changes. Be assured they will come with kaleidoscopic rapidity. Take an example right out of your own business. New York state has always been a great producer of hay. That was all right when the large number of horses made a big market for hay. But still we grow more than $10,000,000 worth of hay annually, which is $9,000,000 more than the value of all the chickens and eggs we produce. Now that seems to be too much hay and agriculture must be adjusted to grow less hay and more of something else for which there is a better market."

State Budget
Dealing, representative about half of the state's farm business, is in need of constant adjustment, the governor said, as increased efficiency in transportation and refrigeration have placed dairy farmers "against the competition of the whole world." "It is the probability," he continued, "that milk may some time be transported by airplane."

Mr. Lehman was scheduled to appear at the annual banquet last night and present medals to six market farmers. Foreman of business in Albany made it impossible for him to make the trip, however, and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt substituted for him. More for an address yesterday afternoon, the first lady presented the medals and invited the farmers to Washington for a visit "perhaps next winter" to show the nation "that there is one state in the country that does honor its farmers."

Ethiopia Sends Second Note to Italians Today

Rome, Feb. 15 (AP).—Charging Italy with aggression and terming her troop mobilization a menace to peace negotiations, a second Ethiopian note added today to the uncertainties of the Italo-Ethiopian crisis.

Premier Mussolini conferred with members of the Fascist Grand Council and it was indicated that the Ethiopian question would come up in another meeting of Italy's highest legislative body late in the day.

In divulging the contents of the note, the Ethiopian legation pursued the same policy which aroused the ire of Italian officials three days ago.

The second message was much like the first. Besides accusing Italy of prejudicing prospects for a peaceful settlement of the dispute, it took direct issue with Italian claims of Ethiopian aggression at Addis Ababa on January 29, charging instead that the Italians were guilty of a "provocative" attack at that time.

Italian officials said that any announcement must be held in abeyance until a definite verdict on policy is reached by Mussolini. No change appeared in plans to dispatch the first contingents of the African expeditionary force from Sicily to Eritrea and Italian Somaliland tomorrow.

State Admits Gorrell Wrote Note Figuring In Kennamer Trial

Pawnee, Okla., Feb. 15 (AP).—The state today made a surprise admission that John Gorrell wrote the Kennamer note that has figured so largely in the trial of Phil Kennamer for murder.

A Tulsa society girl who spurned the love of Phil Kennamer joined other defense witnesses at his murder trial today in an effort to save the 19-year-old youth from the death penalty.

The girl, pretty Miss Virginia Wilcox, has been summoned to tell of the juvenile adultery lavished upon her by the son of Federal Judge Franklin E. Kennamer. The lengths to which he assertedly went to prove his affection have been spun into nearly every bit of evidence in his trial for the murder of Tulsa physician.

"I'm going to tell whatever I can to clear up this terrible tragedy," said the 19-year-old daughter of H. F. Wilcox, millionaire oil man.

Gorrell, a friend of the defendant, was found shot to death in an exclusive residential section of oil-rich Tulsa on Thanksgiving night. Two days later Kennamer surrendered, saying he had shot in self-defense while attempting to thwart an alleged extortion plot against the Wilcox family.

The state alleges he shot Gorrell when the latter refused to help carry out the purported plot.

Miss Wilcox is one of a score of socially prominent younger Tulsans here for the trial, which was brought to Pawnee on a change of venue.

Saying he didn't "know much about this crazy love Phil had for Virginia," Wilcox said his daughter would "tell all she knows."

Attorneys for the defendant are committed to a double-barreled plea of self-defense and temporary insanity.

The jaunty, confident air Kennamer has displayed since his arrest, changed late yesterday while a Flint Moss, chief defense attorney, recalled incidents in his life and described him as "almost a genius, but mentally unbalanced."

He named his head, started at the door and slumped in his chair. Not once during Moss' long, sprawling statement did he lift his eyes.

Moss depicted an ugly web of extortion about to close around Virginia Wilcox and her family, under the Thanksgiving slaying.

Witnesses With Plans
Witnesses, he said, would testify that the girl had been threatened with harm in a $20,000 extortion note written by John Gorrell.

It was this, Moss declared, that led Kennamer to threaten to kill Gorrell.

"When this terrible, this brilliant boy came upon a condition that affected Miss Wilcox, his adored one, it went to work upon his mentality," Moss concluded.

Judge Kennamer, and possibly the defendant's double murder as well, will take the stand to recount puzzling misadventures in Phil Kennamer's life.

Paris Says Nazi Attitude is a Subtle Way of Dividing Anglo-French Policy.

Berlin, Feb. 15 (AP).—Nazi officialdom sees in the Anglo-French proposals for a western European air pact possible solution of the continent's gravest problems.

This attitude was manifest today as Reichsfuehrer Hitler assured the French and British ambassadors he was ready to discuss the proposed pact.

These discussions, official quarters believe, may lead to other agreements of a military and non-aggression character, likely not only to relieve European tension, but also to break down the wall of pacts threatening the Reich's borders and answer the long-puzzling question of Germany's armament status.

This view was outlined in Deutsch Diplomatische Korrespondenz, which reflects the government's opinion.

The utterances of government officials, during the last months regarding the points raised in the London communiqué, the mouthpiece said, "show Germany's attitude is positive in an attempt to forestall an armaments race and the danger of war."

The London communiqué contains suggestions which are not to be accepted or rejected, but about which all interested powers can confer.

An essential new element in the London document is the suggestion for a mutual air defense agreement, which of course arouses widest interest in Germany.

"This ought to lead the way to solve Europe's most acute problems."

While Germany conceded its willingness to discuss the proposed aerial defense pact, it showed little interest in the suggestions advanced in London that she contemplated her return to the League of Nations, join a French-sponsored eastern security agreement and adhere to the proposed central European non-interference pact.

Subtle Maneuver

Paris, Feb. 15 (AP).—Subtle maneuver to get equality by the shortest and quickest way, at the same time trying to divide French and British policy, was seen in some French quarters today as the significance of Reichsfuehrer Hitler's reply to the London proposals.

Hitler's acceptance of the air pact, which virtually implies arms equality, was viewed by some as a clever bid for favor of Great Britain. The latter is less interested than France in the Danubian and eastern pacts, which Hitler's response was reported to have ignored.

JENS NELSON COMMITTED TO MATTEWAN TODAY

New York, Feb. 15 (AP).—Jens Nelson, 52 years old, former Poughkeepsie farmer, who was convicted last October of presenting forged documents to support a claim to the $3,000,000 estate of Edward A. Ridley, slain real estate dealer, was committed to Matteawan prison for the criminal insane today.

Judge Morris Koenig ordered the commitment when Nelson appeared in court of general sessions for sentence.

Two physicians and the psychiatric clinic of the court had found Nelson insane, Judge Koenig said.

After Ridley's death Nelson came forward with the claim that he was a son of the real estate operator and had been born in a Michigan lumber camp.

He was arrested and tried for suspicion of forgery after Gerald S. Reick, a Poughkeepsie jeweler, testified in surrogate's court that he had made the silver ring at Nelson's order in 1924 which Nelson had claimed was used to seal a birth and death certificate dated 1886.

In a statement to the court before sentence today Nelson asserted his innocence.

Charred Wreckage
St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 15 (AP).—Charred wreckage of the sponge boat X195, last seen in November, 1932, and bones and diving helmets of at least two of the missing crew of five, have been found in 25 feet of water 12 miles off Cedar Key, according to word received here today from the sponge fishing colony at Tarpon Springs. Evidence that the divers perished when their boat burned above them cutting off their air supply, was found in the condition of the helmets, which had been detached from the metal parts of the diving suits, according to Gabriel Peterson, who found the wreckage at the bottom of the Gulf of Mexico. The canvas parts of the suits apparently had rolled away, said Peterson.

Will Go To Chair Like a Man

Hauptmann, volubly protesting his innocence, told newspapermen: "If I have to go to the electric chair, I go like a man."

Today was his last in the county jail. From there he goes to the state prison at Trenton, where a cell in the death house has been prepared for him.

To his attorneys he delegated the task of obtaining funds for an appeal. They questioned him in vain, hoping to learn of friends or fraternal organizations which might help, and then expressed hope the public would aid.

Hauptmann said two $2 bills were all the money he had had since his arrest. They came from an unidentified contributor.

The prisoner said he turned them over to his wife, Anna, "because she needed them."

Edward J. Reilly, chief of defense counsel, estimated the cost of carrying the fight through higher courts at $25,000.

In a death conviction, however, the defense is permitted to ask the court to have the county pay legal costs, including preparation of the record. Expert Rosecrans, assistant defense counsel, said such an order probably would be sought next week.

The financing of other appeal expenses was what worried the defense attorneys. Reilly estimated the amount needed at $8,500 and C. Lloyd Fisher fixed it at $11,000.

Hauptmann, pale and restless, paced his brightly lighted cell while he talked. The trial had left him worn out, he said, but he felt "all right."

Hauptmann Protesting His Innocence Says He Has Nothing to Confess

Declares He Told Everything on Witness Stand and Must Depend on Public For Funds To Carry On Fight.

WILL GO LIKE A MAN

"If I Have To Go to the Electric Chair, I Go Like a Man," Says Prisoner.

By William A. Kinney, Associated Press Staff Writer.

Flemington, N. J., Feb. 15 (AP).—Bruno Hauptmann, awaiting his removal to the death house, placed in the public today his hope of a successful appeal against his conviction for the Lindbergh baby slaying.

"I haven't a dollar," the condemned man told his counsel, "and must depend on the public."

In his only interview during four months in the Hunterdon county jail, the Bronx carpenter was asked yesterday whether he could not "possibly name persons connected with the kidnaping of the Lindbergh baby."

"As God is my judge," was the reply, "I cannot confess, for there is nothing to confess."

"If I had any confession to make, I would have made it months ago and saved my wife and child all this worry."

"I told everything, on my word of honor. That is, I mean I have not tried to cover up anybody."

But the New York Daily News said in a copyright article today that not only were two men involved in the $50,000 ransom fraud—Hauptmann was identified as the actual recipient—but that police knew the identity of the second and sought to trap him.

This man, the News said, was the one who hid his face with a handkerchief and peered into Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh's automobile while the father of the slain baby awaited his ransom emissary, Dr. J. F. Condon. The mystery man moved on and dropped his handkerchief, apparently as a signal to the ransom collector.

Initial efforts to reach District Attorney Foley of the Bronx and other officers for confirmation of the article were fruitless.

At New York police headquarters, the Lindbergh file, filling four large cabinets, was closed and stored away in the basement.

Senate Republicans Would Limit Relief Bill To a Year

Senate Requests Ickes For Reports on Farley

Washington, Feb. 15 (AP).—At the request of Senator Long (D-La.) the Senate today asked Secretary Ickes to furnish all reports of Interior Department investigators referring to Postmaster General Farley.

Senator Robinson, Democratic leader, agreed to approval of the resolution calling for the data, after Long had consented to a modification.

As originally drawn, the resolution requests Ickes to furnish all Glavis reports "which affect, mention, or report on James A. Farley, or any concern with which said Farley has been or is now identified."

It also asked for reports dealing with contracts to James Stewart and company, on supplies furnished to that company by the General Builders Supply Corporation.

"Thanks for the information," was Ickes' comment when notified of the Senate action.

Long has charged the Stewart Company was given preference in public works contracts and obtained supplies from the other company, which he said was headed by Farley's brother-in-law.

In a brief speech today Long cited the law on disposition of postage stamps and read a House address about Farley giving unperfected and unguessed stamps to friends.

He said if those claims were true Farley had given away first run stamps with a "souvenir value" of $80,000.

$71,787.88 Spent on 1,362 Relief Cases Here During January

The Emergency Relief Bureau in its report of expenditures for the month of January to Mayor Conrad J. Heiselein showed $71,787.88 spent in dealing with 1,362 relief cases in Kingston. The total is for work relief and home relief, as itemized in the following table, a copy of the official report made to the mayor:

Wife of Errol

Pineville, Va., Feb. 15 (AP).—Phillip Cohen, commonwealth's attorney for Botetourt county, has been notified formally by counsel for Mayor Robert C. Kent, now in Richmond, on the charge that he kidnapped Mrs. Mary J. Hastings, that a petition is being made to the supreme court of appeals for a writ of error. The local prosecutor is preparing to oppose the petition. The body of Mrs. Hastings was found beside a Pennsylvania highway a few days after she left Blue Ridge with Kent. She had been shot through the head, Kent contended that he left the woman in Washington as he continued to New York.

At Party Conference They Agreed To Fight For Amendment To Limit Bill To One Year Instead of Two.

Hopkins Doesn't Know Where the Money Is To Come From After February Allotment Goes.

Washington, Feb. 15 (AP).—Senate Republicans at a party conference today agreed to fight for an amendment to limit the administration $4,880,000,000 relief bill to one year instead of two.

Senator McNary, of Oregon, the minority leader, also announced an "overpowering majority" appeared to favor the McCarran pro-vailing wage amendment.

He said the Republicans were about evenly divided on the Adams amendment to slice $2,000,000,000 off the appropriation, that they seemed to favor the Metcalf proposal to give preference to war veterans in the relief set-up and also the Hayden amendment to require uniform wages and hours on public roads projects and similar state projects.

The Republicans also discussed the impending Democratic effort to recommit the bill so the $380,000,000 direct relief fund could be voted immediately, and there was a "mixture of support" for it.

It was said Senator LaFollette (R-Wis.) would seek to increase the works fund to probably eight or ten billions.

As the bill now reads, the money would be available until June 30, 1937. The Republican plan would limit it to June 30, 1936.

A quick administration reply to reports (not carried by The Associated Press) that a PWA survey listed only $2,000,000,000 that could be used for work relief projects was the statement by PWA officials that a survey due for completion March 1 already has shown the nation's communities want $10,000,000,000 to finance construction jobs.

Officials explained applications for such activities have not been accepted since February 28, 1934, when the applications filed amounted to around $2,000,000,000. These did not include loans to railroads, housing projects or federal projects. Passage of the work-relief bill would mean reopening applications officials said.

Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins, who places the total number of new receiving relief from the federal government at 2,900,000, said he didn't know where relief money was going to come from after $100,000,000 allotted for February was exhausted. This money, he said, would all be gone about the 15th or 20th of the month.

In passing, Hopkins spoke approvingly yesterday of Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia's proposal for a $1,000,000,000 work program in New York city. He endorsed it in "principle," saying it was "in accord with what the President and Congress are trying to do."

An attack on the American Federation of Labor proposal to pay relief workers "prevailing wages" instead of "security wages" of about $50 a month was made today by the government competition committee of the National Association of Manufacturers.

"For the government to pay more than a relief wage for work relief will unnecessarily burden the public with taxation deferring true recovery," said the committee.

Sunday Productions

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 15 (AP).—The bill now before the New York Legislature to permit exhibition of dramatic and musical productions on Sunday will be given a public airing next Wednesday. Supported by the State Federation of Labor, the measure was introduced by Senator Julius Berg, Bronx Democrat. "Because there should be no reason that the real education and cultural life of the theatre should be forced to be closed on Sunday if the burlesque, motion pictures and vaudeville theatres are permitted to be open," Senator Berg said. "Thousands of letters have been received from individuals and organizations throughout the state favoring the proposal."

Commission Extended

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 15 (AP).—Governor Herbert H. Lehman's signature has extended the life of the Mackay tax revision commission until February 15, 1936. The bill was passed by both houses of the Legislature this week despite Republican protest that the group should be abolished. The measure does not carry an appropriation.

"Not the Bankers"
Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 15 (AP).—While Patterson, Governor J. P. Dwyer and J. Stanley Pratt were in city court "giving the works" to motorists accused of parking violations, their own court was being run by an impatient parking lot from the courthouse. The tax district for the city is to appear in a public hearing for advice on how to park its automobiles.

FLASHES OF LIFE SKETCHED IN BRIEF

Touching

Joliet, Ill.—Police Magistrate John J. Nicholson was touched. Frank Awe, a transient, was before him, accused of drinking a bit too much.

"But" said the accused, "I've got something for you." He produced a big red heart which said something about "won't you be my Valentine."

"On your way, Frank," said the court. "In 16 years on the bench no prisoner ever gave me a Valentine before."

Happy Ending

Seattle, Wash.—Harney Wold didn't send his wife a Valentine. Instead he limped to the jail, where Mrs. Wold was held on a charge of shooting him, and the two kissed and "made up."

Wold, who was shot in the hip during a family quarrel a month ago, said he was going to have one of the lead slugs fashioned into a watch chain as a "souvenir."

Mrs. Wold later pleaded guilty to the charge and will remain in jail until March 6 to serve out the sentence.

Not New To Them

Everett, Wash.—Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Plambeck are celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary—the second such anniversary for both of them, as each had been married more than 25 years previously to other spouses. Plambeck is 79 and his wife is 77.

Wins In a Waddle

New York—Just because a fat man waddles and can't pick a ruler off the floor is no sign he's intoxicated.

William D. Elmore, who tips the scales at 220 pounds and is five feet, seven inches tall, was before Magistrate Francis J. Erwin on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated.

Leah Jacobs, a witness, testified to her belief Elmore was intoxicated because he waddled and was unable to pick up a ruler in an intoxication test.

Magistrate Erwin, himself somewhat portly, was unimpressed. "That's nothing," he said. "All fat men have difficulty picking things from the floor. Case dismissed."

Religious School
Opens on Monday

The first session of the standard international leadership school for church workers will be held Monday evening from 7:30 to 9:40 o'clock in the Kingston High School. Last Sunday when the first meeting for registration and enrollment was held over a hundred church school workers of the city signified their intention of attending the school. The school will be held for six Monday evenings, beginning next Monday evening.

Madga Lupescu's Enemies Multiply;
Rumanian Parties Demand Her Exile

By WADE WERNER.

Vienna (AP).—Flaming-haired Madam Lupescu, "uncrowned queen" of Rumania, is too powerful to be driven from her privileged post by the opposition of any one party, say confidential reports reaching diplomatic circles here.

The same reports indicate, however, that party lines are being forgotten in the formation of a united front to drive King Carol's charmer away.

Outspoken old Marshal Averescu, hero of the World War and long privileged to be freer with his criticism than other men in Bucharest, has repeatedly dropped remarks or written articles plainly revealing he thought the country would be better off with Madam Lupescu outside.

Politicians Plot Trouble.

Juliu Maniu, pillar of the national peasant party and who was premier when Carol took the throne, also has made no secret of his opposition to the king's favorite.

Lately, moreover, not only Averescu and Maniu, but George Bratianu, leader of the disident liberal party, has been campaigning openly against her, while other prominent politicians, less openly, have been plotting trouble for her if she dares to remain.

Maniu's attempt to deliver an anti-Lupescu speech in the chamber of deputies created a sensation in Bucharest some weeks ago.

Recently more intense excitement blazed up when residents of the capital found walls near Carol's palace and elsewhere in town plastered with manifestos demanding that the uncrowned queen abdicate her unofficial throne.

Charge "Camarilla" Rule.

Ported by joint action of Averescu's people's party and George Bratianu's disident liberal group, the manifestos began (like Maniu's undelivered speech) by recalling that Carol's return from exile in 1930 awakened nation-wide enthusiasm which, however, soon turned to disillusionment.

"Together, with strengthened forces, we must make an end of the present dangerous and shameful situation," it said.

"The weeds which are choking the

Musical Society Host to State Leader

Twenty-five members of the Musical Society of Kingston met at Mrs. Finch's tea room on Wednesday night for a dinner in honor of Mrs. Etna Hamilton Morris, president of the New York Federated Music Clubs. Miss Jane Maustertock spoke a word of greeting after which all joined in singing the doxology. The tables were decorated with red candles and Valentine hearts with favors at each place. After the delicious dinner Mrs. Morris addressed the club telling of the work that is being done by the Federation in different sections of the state. She urged that the club send a delegate to the Biennial Festival which is to be held in Philadelphia in April. One of the prizes to be awarded then for an instrumentalist carries with it not only a cash award but the privilege of a debut with either the New York Philharmonic orchestra or the Philadelphia Symphony orchestra. The highest vocal award will include a debut in a major role at the Metropolitan Opera. Such a contest with such high awards will appeal to the youth of the nation who desire to follow music as a profession. Mrs. Morris spoke of the activity of the clubs in the northern part of the state who plan to produce the opera, "Aida," late this spring at Watertown. A chorus of 250 voices will be assembled from several counties to take part in this production. The opera will be sung in English. Thus through the Federation, young musicians are being given a chance for practical experience.

After Mrs. Morris' interesting talk the members went to the home of Mrs. Bernard Forst, 32 Maiden Lane, where several other members who had not been able to be present at the dinner, joined them for the evening's program. Harry Dodge had been invited as a guest accompanist. Miss Maustertock conducted the business meeting. The following nominating committee was appointed: Mrs. Mortimer Downer, Mrs. Walter T. Trampler and Mrs. Roy Wood. This committee will present a slate of officers at the March meeting. Mrs. Mills announced that the public library had recently purchased two valuable books for musical research. They are "Music and Romance" and "Music on the Air," both by Hazel G. Kinsella. A request from Mrs. G. of the Governor Clinton Hotel for the Musical Society to give a Lenten musicale was discussed. It was voted that this request be granted.

All those willing to take part are to communicate with Mrs. Mills, program chairman. Announcement was made of the oratorio, "Elijah," which is to be given by the Kingston choristers during National Music Week, and the oratorio, "Messiah," to be given under Mr. Stine's direction some time in June. Miss Clinton, who made these two announcements, asked for the hearty cooperation of the Musical Society in these projects. Mrs. Downer was called on for a "Current Event." Then the program was turned over to Mrs. Clarence Wolfertsteg, who announced that the subject was "Modern French Music." A very interesting paper prepared by Mrs. Frederick Coombs was read on this subject. The composers were divided into three groups. Those of "absolute music," the "impressionists" and the "modernists." Cesar Franck and Camille Saint-Saens represent the first group. Claude Debussy was the founder of the second group. Ravel is also a noted composer of the impressionistic school. In the third group are Eric Satie, Milhaud, Honegger and many others. The musical program was as follows:

Absolute Music
Sextette—"The Marriage of The Roses" Mrs. Rignall, Mrs. Thinnie, Mrs. Downer, Miss Port, Mrs. Wood and Mrs. Wolfertsteg; accompanist, Miss Ethel Maustertock.
Third movement of Sonata for violin and piano Cesar Franck
Mrs. Florence Cuddeby, Miss Helen Turner

Aria—"My Heart at Thy Dear Voice" Saint-Saens
With violin obligato (Mrs. Cuddeby), Mrs. Henry Dunbar; accompanist, Harry Dodge

The Swan Saint-Saens

Impressionists

Arabesque—piano solo Debussy
Mrs. Henry Millonig, Jr.
Aria—"De Plus Le Jour" from Louise Charpentier

Mrs. Bernard Forst, accompanist.
Mrs. Walter T. Trampler.
Maiden With Flaxen Hair—Piano solo Debussy
Miss Agatha Flick

Clair de Lune (Moonlight)—Piano solo Debussy
Mrs. Millonig
Noonlight Faure
By the Group of Six Singers

Bohème—Piano solo Ravel
Miss Phyllis Brodhead
Ray Caprice (Modernistic) Ravel
Miss Brodhead

At the conclusion of the program Mrs. Morris was asked to say a few words to the club. She related several incidents of interest regarding our own American composers who are writing music in the modern manner. She said we would have to attain our ears to this new music which was so different from the old which we were accustomed to and loved.

Mrs. Forst invited all to gather in the dining room where delicious refreshments were served. Miss Maustertock and Mrs. Mills poured. The next meeting will be on March 12 at the home of the Misses Maustertock.

Saar Refugees Worry In France Awaiting League Action On Haven

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK

Paris (AP).—Homeless, jobless and mostly penniless, 3,000 Saarlanders, refugees all, are camping in a score of French towns, waiting for the League of Nations to settle their fates.

Their womenfolk try to make temporary homes of the single room assigned to each family in some improvised dormitory, children—at tempt bashfully to play with staring French youngsters, and young men, who are in the majority, pass the days idly.

Worry is in the face of each of these fugitives from Adolf Hitler's Nazi Germany, self-exiled to southwestern France where the countryside, the Latin people and the language are completely foreign to them. They live in anxious uncertainty of the morrow.

One refugee has become insane. Others wander through the refugee camps, seeking wives, husbands, parents and friends lost in some momentary separation.

A Saarlander chauffeur, who said his former employer had threatened him with internment in a German concentration camp, slapped a French army officer as soon as he crossed the frontier so that he would be imprisoned safely on French territory.

France has told the League that the task of caring for these emigres is too much for her to handle in the midst of depression. Geneva's clearing house of international problems has been asked to provide permanent havens.

French officials report that 3,000 Saar refugees filtered into France within two weeks after the plebiscite. By that time the exodus from the territory recovered by Germany had dwindled to an imperceptible trickle, surprising those who had expected as many as 40,000 to cross the frontier.

Strictly Germans Halted
The French consulate at Saarbrücken granted 8,000 visas or safe-conduct permits, immediately after the plebiscite. Many of them may yet be used before the Saar reverts to Germany on March 1.

France, however, has admitted only bona fide Saarlanders with good records and good excuses for fleeing Nazism. Turned back are suspected criminals, German anti-Nazis, including Jews, who fled into the Saar with Hitler, attained power, and former Rhineland separatists who left Germany when their movement failed in 1923.

Preference has been given Saarlanders who had applied for French citizenship or sent their children to French schools in the Saar, thus incurring Nazi wrath.

Most of them would rather have remained in Lorraine or Alsace, where German is spoken.

But France has a policy of keeping political refugees away from frontiers to avoid espionage, agitation, propaganda and border incidents.

After having trudged the snow-packed frontier roads to Forbach and Sarreguemines, lugging suitcases or sacks of meager possessions, the accepted refugees are started southward on the hard wooden seats of third-class railroad cars within 24 hours, to avoid any congestion of frontier posts.

War days, when frontier towns were evacuated ahead of the advancing German army, are recalled as the fugitives are given hot chocolate, soup and sandwiches at Red Cross canteens.

No Tarrying At Border
The future of these poor people is virtually denied the refugees, for aside from their ignorance of French, they must cope with the regulation that foreigners may hold only those jobs for which no French unemployed are available. With more than 400,000 Frenchmen on the unemployment dole, work is scarce.

"The future of these poor people is certainly not enviable, although we are doing everything possible to soften the hardship of their exile," said a French official.

"Having left everything behind them, they must endure a life similar to that of a soldier in camp."

Crossing the Frontier—To What?

The shouts of triumphant Nazis ringing in their ears, 3,000 Saarlanders have abandoned their homes and taken up self-imposed exile in France. This mother and son, laden with meager possessions, were photographed as they trudged along a frontier road, their faces turned toward an alien land, delayed victims of the World War.

White House Is Not Private
The White House with all its beauty is by no means a desirable residence for a quiet man. Its occupants have no privacy, and such moments as he has are always spent with guards at his doors and an unrelenting clamor of those who want admission but most necessarily be refused. The President's every action is watched. Crowds come to his back doors and peep into his kitchen; they interview his servants; and the good public has the right at any time to walk through his great palace and make their remarks about his furniture and the way he keeps it.—Washington Star.

UNCLE SAM CONSIDERS 'SOCIAL SECURITY'

4. Proposed Bill Turns Spotlight On Problems Of Nearly 6,000,000 Children

This is the fourth and last in a series.

By SIGRID ARNE

(Associated Press Staff Writer)

About 5,805,500 children in the United States are in need of special care. It is estimated by the committee on economic security which did the preliminary work for the President's social security program.

The security, or Wagner-Lewis, bill, which grew from the committee's work, would provide for an annual expenditure of $25,000,000 of federal funds to iron out the difficulties of these children.

The children's divisions of the bill come under two heads: Care of dependent, neglected, fatherless and homeless children who would be aided by an annual appropriation of $4,000,000.

Groups Needing Aid

The children in need of help include the following groups: 280,500 now kept by various mothers' assistance laws passed by the states; some 250,000 children receiving care in boarding homes and institutions; more than 200,000 delinquent children who come into court each year and need special supervision; more than 75,000 illegitimate children each year who need special medical and social care; and about 5,000,000 who are physically handicapped—the blind, the partially seeing, the deaf and hard of hearing, the crippled, and those suffering from tuberculosis and cardiac illnesses.

The effect of the depression on children has been brought out most strikingly through relief rolls which show that 7,400,000 children under 16 years of age now are in families living on unemployment relief. They comprise 40 per cent of the persons on relief.

The committee on security says that two means of helping dependent children need strengthening: the mothers' pension systems and local welfare services.

Into the faces of more than 5,800,000 children now said to be pinched with pain, hunger or misery, the social security proponents bill as introduced contains two clauses which call for an expenditure of $25,000,000 a year with this purpose in mind.

State Pensions For Mothers

Mothers' pensions were designed to permit children to remain in their own homes under the care of their mothers when the father or breadwinner is gone.

Such pensions have been written into the laws of 45 states. But the committee found less than half the governmental units in those states are giving the care they are empowered to give.

In addition, there is extremely wide variation under the laws. Some families living on mothers' pensions barely can preserve health. Others get enough aid to permit normal growth in the children.

In cities of 100,000 population or more children who are homeless or neglected usually receive aid. But in counties where there are no large cities their fate is uncertain. Only one-fourth of the states have set up county welfare boards for children.

Maternal Care

The committee, in its study of maternal and child health, found that 12,845 women died in 1933 from causes connected with pregnancy and child birth. In addition to the loss of life, the deaths have a tragic corollary in the confusion and insecurity which results for children in homes where the mother dies.

State funds for child and maternal health programs are extremely limited. For 1934 there were 23 states which had less than $10,000 for the work; 14 states had between $10,000 and $50,000; and only five had more than $50,000.

Federal money given out under the security bill to cover these special needs of the children would be allotted under rules which would aid in equalizing the care given the unfortunate in the various states.

State Cooperation

Funds for dependent children would be allotted in sums equal to one-third of the sums voted by the states. Only such states as have a child welfare plan approved by the federal administrator would be eligible for federal aid. The state plans must assure subsistence "compatible with decency and health" and must not impose a residence requirement of longer than one year.

Funds for child and maternal health would be apportioned under the security bill in the following manner: $20,000 annually to each state, and $1,000,000 to be spent in the states in proportion to the number of live births, provided the two sums do not exceed the amount spent by the state for the same purpose. The rest of the federal health funds are designed for special emergencies and extra research work.

May Borrow To Improve Home

Ithaca, N. Y., Feb. 15.—With facilities of the Federal Housing Administration, simple bank loans may be arranged to improve the farm home and property. Professor A. M. Goodman told a group of homemakers at Cornell's 28th annual farm and home week. Professor Goodman is farm representative of the FHA and is a specialist on rural housing plans in the state.

As an example of one improvement he cited hot and cold running water at low cost. Any farmer, he said, can install a water supply system in the farm home. Hundreds have already done it, and he added, hot running water may be had cheaply in any home which has running cold water.

To have a good water supply system in the farm home, Professor Goodman suggested the following needs: An adequate supply of good water; the desire to have hot and cold water piped in the house; a simple but complete plan for the water system; a start on the job, which means the installation of a simple system if it is nothing more than a sink, drain, and pitcher pump; and the determination to add other small parts of the system as time and money permit.

The speaker said that no improvement would more justify a debt for the farm family than a good water supply system. Such a system lasts for years and will save time and money and bring comfort and enjoyment while payments are made on it.

CAPITAL NEWS

MOLLESTER STURGES, Jr.

Albany, Feb. 15 (Special).—Late in the afternoon yesterday came the best morsel of political news that nearly shook the Democratic party by its very roots. As might be expected, minority Senate Leader George R. Fearon aimed the blow that hastened to change the attitude of his political foes. The all-important public utilities investigation committee, which was created by the legislature last winter, has to date been functioning on a non-political basis, and Senator Fearon's charge was that Speaker Irwin Steingut, of the Lower House, wanted to change the composition of the committee to make it a Democratic group. He warned that controlling part of its action under a guise of non-partisanship before the public and what would be the results if they made any such attempt. John J. Dunnigan, majority leader, promised that as long as he was a member of this committee there would be no partisanship displayed. A hurried whispered conference was held with Mr. Steingut and the two senators so that after five minutes of hushed deliberation the two-to-one combination gave in to Fearon and he successfully won his point.

An unusually long delay during the morning kept the Assembly from convening until after midday. It was necessary to have the full Democratic strength before any attempts were made to push through the tax and budget bills. Three Democratic assemblymen threatened insurgency, and the influence of Governor Lehman had to be called into play that succeeded in winning over two of these belligerents with promises of reappointment action, but the third could not be swayed and was conspicuous by his absence during the voting on tax measures. He is Edwin L. Kantowski, of Buffalo. As a result of his loss of support it was necessary on several occasions for the speaker to cast the deciding ballot which clinched the passing of the entire executive budget program in the Lower House, duplicating the victorious feat that the Senate experienced the previous day.

Four hours of debate were devoted to these fiscal problems; the Republicans again launching their attack on unnecessary and unjust expenditures, on false economy, on the six methods employed by Democrats of championing the people, on lack of consideration with regard to accuracy in estimated revenue as experienced over past years, of the trend of state bureaucracy comparable to that in Washington, and of the responsibility that is vested in the legislature and not with the executive department for making appropriations of funds and tax laws for support of government. Speakers on both sides of the aisle aired their views, the minority hitting the budget program at every vulnerable point, and majority members firing back with equal determination in their defense of what they considered sound and practical finance. It was Mayor Alterman, however, that surpassed the others in rebuttal. As chairman of the Assembly ways and means committee, and by his experience of 13 years in the lower house, he took upon himself to answer all that had been said by the individual Republicans, and one by one refuted to his party's satisfaction their arguments as opposed to the problems at stake. He cracked down on the sayings of the Republicans about a public hearing as utter political camouflage and supported his defiant remarks with bundles of statistics; he spoke of the intense work that comprised the budget of state done by the comptroller and his huge staff that forms the department of taxation and finance; and he pointed out the absolute emergency needs of money for relief and support of not only unemployed and destitute but for the increasing numbers of persons afflicted in mind and body who have become wards of the state and must be supported by public funds. Mr. Alterman's young son is a visitor to the capitol this week; he has been given the house privilege of the floor, and well it was, too, for this nine-year-old lad has thoroughly enjoyed himself in romping about the building and dashing from Senate to assembly, fraternizing with the many law-makers; he has been everywhere but in the governor's lap—the governor, by the way, is in lithage.

Irving M. Ives, Republican minority leader in the assembly, took the floor during the hours of political verbal exchange, and asserted that his party's position was being challenged by a governor who was trying to be a dictator on the matter of passing his budget, and further refused, by virtue of the denial of a hearing, to be made a party to "this ruthless, public-be-damned procedure."

At four o'clock yesterday afternoon a short-lived but packed-with-dynamite bomb was thrown into the assembly chamber by William T. Andrews of New York, who attempted to revive the business of the federal child labor amendment. He had a handful of supporters, but the great majority emphatically voted his proposal down, as nearly all the legislators are scared of this measure.

The Wicks Bill, which extends the life of TERA for another year, was signed by the governor yesterday and became the 25th law of 1935. It was passed on Wednesday in the assembly and last week the upper house took action upon it. Senator Arthur H. Wicks of Kingston introduced it.

This morning each house held legislative day in order to keep the pending bills on the calendar; most of the legislators have departed until next Monday when they will resume their full duties again.

This past week saw complete enactment of the 1935 executive budget program that will increase taxes by $55,750,000 and advocates a slightly more than three million surplus on June 30, 1936. April 1 the extra gas tax takes effect, so when you fill your tank that day and are asked to pay a little more do not think the fellow at the pump is "April Fooling" you—remember, remember, the sixth of November.

In a statement made last night Frank J. Smith, chairman of the legislative committee of the New York State Automobile Association, said that the Democratic majority has handed the motorists a $30,000,000 Valentine; instead of a felicitation it was a gouge. As a result, according to Mr. Smith, every owner of a little car will have to pay the state approximately $50 in addition to the federal taxes on cars, accessories, and other required items of this form of transportation.

Mendelssohn Club Concert March 22

Mendelssohn Club has chosen March 22 as the date for its annual complimentary concert to be given in the high school auditorium. This year's concert is expected to prove one of the best, since 25 voices have been added to the membership, making a fine chorus of over 60 voices. The program too has been carefully selected to include not only the latest glaze club numbers but some of the old favorites as well. Dr. Elmer A. Tidmarsh is for the seventh season, director of the club.

Recently, Mendelssohn Club sang at the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital and the Home for the Aged in Ulster County, giving the inmates an opportunity to hear the club sing some of their best numbers. At both institutions Mendelssohn Club was given a warm welcome, since most of the listeners had never been privileged to enjoy a regular concert given by the club.

COMMANDER WILEY TELLS HIS STORY OF THE MACON SINKING

Lieut. Commander H. V. Wiley told a graphic story of the fate which befell his airship, the dirigible Macon, queen of the air, and Associated Press Artist Earl Van Swearingen has charted the stout-hearted commander's account of the tragedy step by step, from the time the first trouble was encountered as the ship cruised along smoothly on its course until the moment when all that was left of the great ship was its nose sticking out of the Pacific ocean. (Associated Press)

DRENCHED MACON SURVIVORS REACH SHORE

Rescued from icy waters after the dirigible Macon crashed, members of the doomed dirigible's crew are shown being brought to shore at San Francisco. They returned to the Macon's vacant hangar at Sunnyvale, Calif., to be questioned by Lieutenant-Commander H. V. Wiley, master of the giant craft. (Associated Press Photo)

London Society Glitters With Paste Jewels

London (AP)—Glittering diamonds blaze at the throats of Mayfair socialites, these days, more often than not are paste.

Hard times, a wave of gem thefts and the high cost of insurance have combined to banish many of the world's most famous jewels to the dark security of bank vaults, while their owners—not always conscious of—display ingenious imitations.

"I think it is safe to say that most of the world's great stones have now been copied," said one of the leading jewelers of London. "When they are worn, only the owners know which is which—and not always then."

Insignia Of Garter Copied.

"The extraordinary improvement made in the last few years in the reproduction of gems has brought about this situation. Today there is no jewel which cannot be copied so faithfully that even experts are deceived."

London firm now makes facsimiles of the highest honor within the gift of the king—the insignia of the Most Noble Order of the Garter—for $150. The genuine insignia, made of gold set with diamonds and fine emeralds, costs at least $22,500.

A reproduction of one of the world's most famous ropes of pearls, recently completed, cost $300. By contrast, the original was insured for $85,000.

Husband Fools Wife.

One London hostess who travels extensively and always takes her jewels, was paying premiums amounting to $40,000. She still has jewels at Biarritz, Cannes and Monte Carlo.

As far as she knows, they are worth tens of thousands of pounds. But, her husband no longer pays that $40,000 insurance a year. He and a certain jeweler alone know they are paste.

Announcements were then given by Miss Barbara Pfaff, Katherine Meagher, William Holtsman, Max Easton, Coach Loren Campbell, Dr. Roland G. Will and Professor V. Beebe. Miss Gertrude Nichols head of the Science Department introduced the guest speaker, Dr. S. R. Dhalwani of Bombay, India, lecturer and traveler. Dr. Dhalwani is a Hindu and speaks most informatively and entertainingly. He spoke on "The Social and Educational Life of the people of India and discussed the topic "Understanding the Indian." Dr. Dhalwani upholds the highest traditions of Brahmin culture and has a keen insight into the history of India. His talk to the assembly was very interesting and much appreciated.

THE CAMERAMAN CATCHES ONE OF THE MOST DRAMATIC MOMENTS IN NEWS HISTORY

THE HAUPTMANN JURY LEAVES AFTER BRINGING IN VERDICT

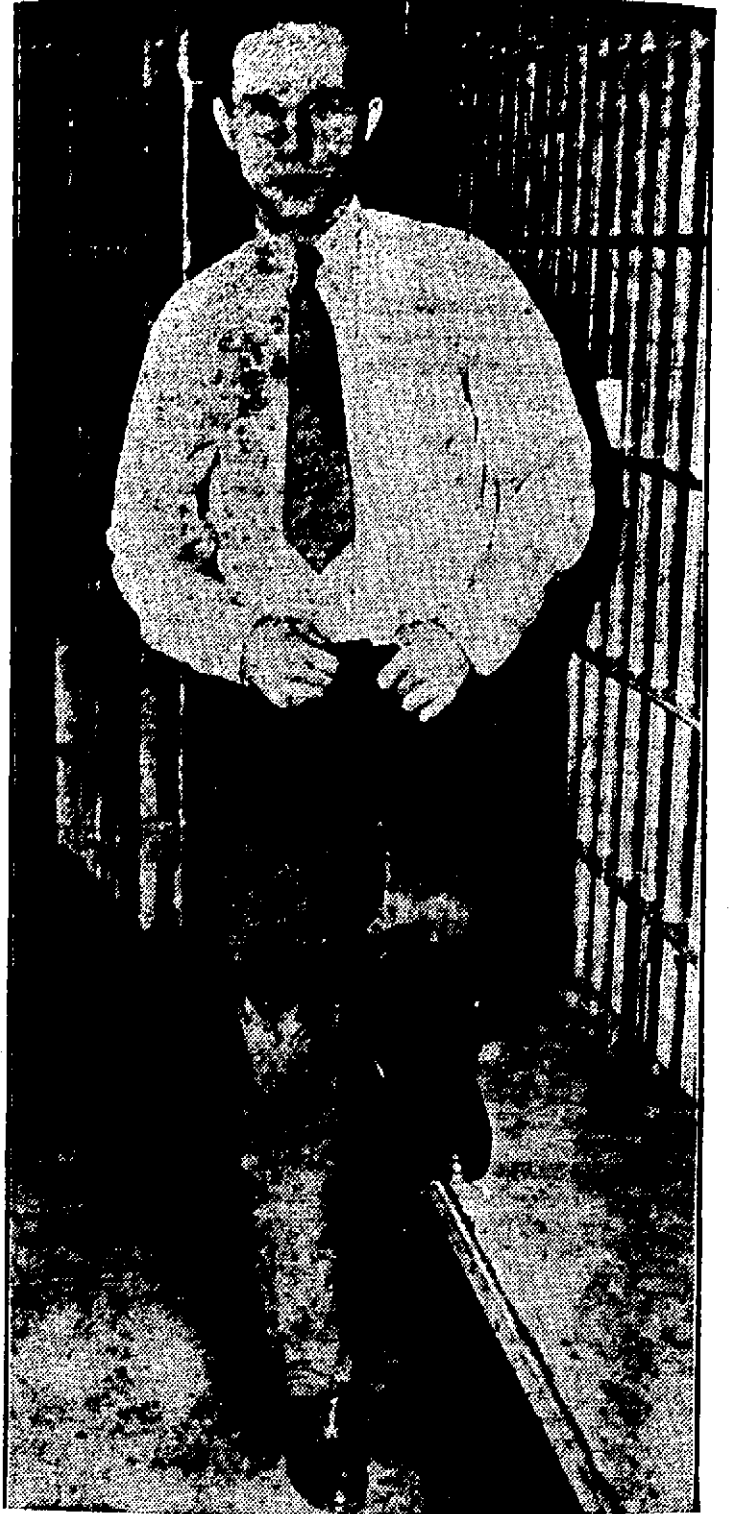

Heeded in by a great throng of spectators who mobbed the town of Flemington, the jury which brought in the verdict which will send Bruno Richard Hauptmann to the electric chair, left the Hunterdon county court house after the verdict had been rendered and sentence pronounced. The jury may be seen, center, with Mrs. Verna Sayde, who showed evidence of having been crying when she returned from the deliberation chamber, in the foreground. (Associated Press Photo).

Mrs. Anna Hauptmann heard death sentence pronounced on her husband after the jury returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree and left by the back door of the Hunterdon court house with the words: "There is nothing left for me," on her lips. She is shown above as she was led, pale and shaky, from the court. (Associated Press Photo).

HAUPTMANN PACES CELL

GLOOMY TRENTON DEATH HOUSE AWAITS HAUPTMANN

Here is the gloomy death house at Trenton, N. J., where Bruno Richard Hauptmann has been sentenced to die in the electric chair during the week of March 18. Three secret guards have been assigned to keep a 24-hour vigil over the German carpenter. (Associated Press Photos)

SHANDAKEN

Shandaken, Feb. 15.—The Missionary Class of the M. E. Church met at the home of Mrs. George Rona on Tuesday.

The Rev. G. B. Year came very near meeting with a serious accident on Tuesday. He started to back over a bridge near George Rona's place and the car went off the end of the bridge and hung there. It is reported, however, that the car was not damaged. The car was not damaged. The car was not damaged.

Mr. and Mrs. V. F. Bernauer and sons, Alfred and Coradine, were Kingston visitors on Wednesday. Mrs. Charles Van Valkenburg is confined to her home by illness. The Ladies' Aid is having a sewing circle meet at the home of Mrs. F. S. Osterhoudt today.

England's Woollen Industry

In the Middle Ages the chief source of the wealth of England was the woolen industry. It was in honor of wool that the Lord Chancellor was seated upon a wool-sack. The custom still continues.

A SOMBER HAUPTMANN IS LED AWAY

Eyes downcast and with a somber look on his face, Bruno Richard Hauptmann was led back to his cell after he had a jury verdict of guilty and a death sentence pronounced upon him. (Associated Press Photo).

'Save My Son!'

When news reached Frau Pauline Hauptmann (above) in Kamenitz, Germany, that her son Bruno had been sentenced to death, she penned a letter to President Roosevelt imploring him to save the convicted killer of the Lindbergh baby. "He will help an old mother," she said, but President Roosevelt was described as lacking power to pardon Hauptmann. (Associated Press Photo)

BETTY'S MOTHER NEVER HAS TIME TO READ TO HER, OR PLAY WITH HER EITHER

WELL, IF BETTY'S MOTHER WOULD SEND HER WASHING TO THE LAUNDRY, SHE'D HAVE TIME, AND I'M GOING TO TELL HER SO WHEN I SEE HER

Why sentence yourself to a day a week in the damp, dreary basement? Why do you expect to gain, wearing your self out, taking chances with your health, sitting, standing, yourself, doing the family washing? Maybe you think you're saving money. But you're not. Listen. Thrifty Wash—the marvelous new home washing service—is positively cheaper than home washing.

Thrifty Wash gives you a day a week — FOR FUN!

Wouldn't you like to have more time to spend with your children—enjoying life with them? Do you think your husband likes to see you make a drudge of yourself? To tell you the truth, he hates washday as much as you do! Then why don't you make up your mind, right now, that you're going to stop being a wash-woman? That you're going to take a whole day this week—and every week—for fun. Just take a minute tomorrow morning—phone and tell us which day you want us to call for your bundle. We'll wash your clothes carefully and thoroughly. We'll soak out the dirt in rich, foamy, warm suds of patent soap. We'll rinse them clear in gallons and gallons of sparkling, rain-soft water. Then we'll send them back to you with the flat work ironed. Don't worry about the expense, either. For Thrifty Wash only costs 98 cents for a big 14 pound bundle. Which you must admit is "cheap enough!"

POLITICS at Random

AN EXTRAORDINARILY large number of political powderkegs are being buried these days around the premises of the new deal.

No one knows whether any of them actually will be touched off. It is notorious that most such bombs never explode. Either something goes wrong with the mechanism, or the bombers get cold feet.

Yet when one does let loose, it makes a lot of excitement. So Washington is deeply interested and is watching very closely the operations of those who are trying to undermine various administration projects, policies and personalities.

The situation is quite different from that of a few months ago. Then, Mr. Roosevelt's opponents did very little boasting. For the most part, they opposed him listlessly, as if they were saying "We know we're licked, but we have to go through with the motions of protesting anyway."

Now, whatever it may mean, those who want to change or even defeat some of the major administration recommendations to congress are talking as if they really had a chance. Even that much is something new.

Antagonized At Defeat

IT SEEMS to have started with the senate roll call on the world court.

An atmosphere so funeral that it was painful enveloped, the anti-court men when the debate started. They began to take courage as the vote neared, but even so most of them were utterly antagonized when the court finally was beaten decisively.

Now the President's work relief program is being rewritten by a senate committee and all sorts of mines and pitfalls are waiting for it when it reaches the senate floor. The same is true of the administration's social security program.

In the house a momentary democratic rebellion against the work relief plan has been succeeded by indications that the gag rule may have to be invoked again to put the social security legislation through.

Patronage Revolt

A SIZABLE revolt is in progress on the subject of patronage. For the first time, organized labor is

By BYRON PRICE
(CMA) Of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington

actively on the warpath against important features of the administration's labor policies. The war on Ickes, Farley, Richberg, Tagwell and others very close to the President goes on vigorously.

This is more surprising in view of the almost universal expectation that Mr. Roosevelt would have the new congress and the remaking of labor and other policies firmly in the hollow of his hand.

Of course there can be no certainty that this expectation may not yet be fulfilled. The President's knowledge of practical politics is undisputed, and it is noticeable that he is consulting senators and representatives constantly nowadays before taking action.

It is noticeable also that few of the attacks are directed at Mr. Roosevelt himself. The dissenters blame Mr. Farley for their patronage troubles, Mr. Ickes for their rebuffs at public works, Mr. Richberg for any mistake which may have been made with respect to labor.

This establishes rather graphically just where the administration line of defense lies. It is Mr. Roosevelt's personal prestige which now is depended on by his partisans to stop the fire.

MARKET FOR FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

New York, Feb. 15 (AP).—(State Department of Agriculture and Markets)—The following quotations represent prices on sales by commission merchants and other original receivers on the New York city downtown wholesale district up to 5 a. m.

The price trend was upward in a stronger market for tomatoes today under active buying and moderate supplies which were exclusively from Cuba. Tomatoes packed 5x6 and 6-6 in lugs containing about 30 lbs. sold at auction within the price range of 2.40-5.00, depending upon quality. The 6x7 pack brought 2.40-4.80 and 7x7 pack and larger ranged from 1.70-4.30.

Old crop cabbage supplies from upstate were light. Bunches of 50 lbs. of Danish white brought 75-85 and red ranged from 1.00-1.25. Most of the business on bulk stock was consummated around 30.00, occasionally higher, and red 45.00-50.00 per ton.

Old crop cabbage in shipments in car lots for the country during the week ending February 9, amounted to 436 cars of old crop and 307 cars of new crop.

Western New York onion supplies were moderate. The market was stronger. Trading was moderate. Jobbing transactions on 50 lb. sacks of yellow onions, U. S. No. 1, were reported at 1.30-1.40, and red No. 1, 1.40-1.50.

The apple market was about steady. Supplies were moderate as was the demand. Western New York Baldwin apples, N. Y. U. S. Grade No. 1, 2 1/2 inch, jobbed out at 1.75 per box. McIntosh No. 1, 2 1/2 inch, sold at 1.75-2.25. Rhode Island Greening apples varied greatly in quality and condition. No. 1, 2 1/2 inch and upward, brought 1.37 1/2-1.62 1/2, and 2 1/2 inch realized from 1.12 1/2-1.50.

On February 1, 1935, apple holdings under refrigeration in this state were reported as 1,865,970 bushels, 1,235,736 boxes and 93,568 barrels.

Western New York carrot supplies were moderate. The demand continued slow. Topped washed carrots in 50 lb. sacks sold at 65-75, whereas unwashed in 100 lb. sacks brought chiefly 90-1.00.

The market situation on old crop white potatoes showed no decided change. Supplies were moderate and trading was slow. New York round white potatoes, U. S. No. 1, in 100 lb. sacks of fair quality peddled out at 75-85, while Green Mountain potatoes, U. S. No. 1 in similar size containers from Long Island brought around 1.15. Maine No. 1 offerings sold from 85-1.00, depending upon quality. New crop Florida red variety potatoes, U. S. No. 1, in bushel crates sold at 1.75-1.85.

Mayor Will Attend Meeting at Albany

Mayor Conrad J. Heitselman has received notification from the Public Service Commission concerning the proposition of eliminating the West Shore Railroad crossing on Broadway, that the commission and railroad officials will have a meeting next week in Albany.

The notification, similar to one sent to New York Central Railroad, states: Ordered: That the New York Central Railroad Company show cause before this commission at its office in the State Office Building, in the City of Albany, New York, on February 21, 1935, at 2 p. m., why it should not prepare the necessary plans, specifications and estimates of cost in such elimination and file same with this commission on or before June 1, 1935.

Mayor Heitselman intends to be at the meeting, and it is presumed that others interested in the elimination of the crossing, especially the members of the Central Business Men's Association, will be there, too. The business men have a meeting scheduled for Monday night at the Municipal Auditorium, and at this session discussion concerning the railroad crossing is expected to take place. All business men, whether members of the association or not, are invited to attend.

GIRL SCOUT RALLY

Saturday afternoon the mid-year rally of the Girl Scouts will be held at the State Armory at the head of Manor avenue. Every scout is expected to be present in uniform. The rally will be fun as well as instructive. The plan for this rally is carried out in the form of a regular meeting. The plan of events being:

Formal opening.
Flag salute.
Prayer.
Laws.
Patrol Corners.
Interpretation.
Rally—Troup II.
Handicraft—Troup V.
Singing—Troup IX.
Swing—Troup VII.
Play planning—Troup III.
Play games.
Lectures.
Poem by Marjorie Tease.
Good Night Circle.
Court of Honor—Troup IV.
It is hoped that the program will start at two o'clock and that every girl be on time and report to her captain. Scouts must change into sneakers or wear rubbers while in the building.

The first building at the University of North Carolina were erected to form a quadrangle in which the students were locked up at night.

High School Students To Give 'The Messiah'

Leonard K. Stine, supervisor of music at Kingston High School, announces that during the first or second week in June, in place of the usual spring concert of the High School Music Association, the High School students will give instead, Handel's Oratorio of "The Messiah."

The Board of Education has purchased 140 copies of the oratorio. The chorus will probably include some 80 girls' voices and some 60 boys' voices. Mr. Stine is finding good material for this work among new students as well as the upper classes. A little later, it is expected that the oratorio scores will be received and the entire work will be under rehearsal in a short time. The entire study of the Music Association of the High School for the whole semester will be devoted to this work, greatly stressed at recent teachers' conferences, as a work to be studied and presented for the cultural advantages of entire student bodies.

MISS VAN DERZEE TO SING ON MIDDLETOWN PROGRAM

Miss June Van Derzee, promising young soprano of Kingston, will appear on the program in St. John's A. M. E. Zion Church, Middletown, Sunday, which is to be held in honor of National Negro History Week. The public is cordially invited to the event. The Progressive Club of Middletown has on exhibit in Thrall Memorial Library books by prominent negro authors, poets and playwrights, and a painting, "A Little Cottage," done by Marjory Van Dyke of Goheen. The painting recently won first prize in an inter-community school exhibit.

Attending Meeting.
Dr. Samuel Stern has left for Elmira to attend a meeting of the managers of the reformatory. He will have office hours again on Monday.

Nothing To Confess Says Hauptmann

that Hauptmann had an accomplice has long been known to the department of justice, the New York police and District Attorney Foley of the Bronx.

"The handkerchief was recovered from the street . . . and chemical analysis of the linen revealed that the man who had carried it was a sufferer from sinus infection."

Hauptmann denied that either he or anyone he knew was so afflicted. The end of the New York police department's investigation sent back to routine duty Acting Lieutenant James J. Finn and 50 men who worked under him to solve the Lindbergh case. Finn estimated that as many as 300 had worked on the case at one time or another and that it had cost New York city $300,000.

Mrs. Hauptmann, who went to Flemington to be near her husband, returned to New York with their infant son last night.

Statement Tended False

Washington, Feb. 15 (AP).—Statements that federal officers have evidence that Bruno Richard Hauptmann had an accomplice in the Lindbergh kidnapping were termed false today by J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Department of Justice. Lindbergh kidnap-murder case was said to be closed so far as the special agents of the department of justice are concerned. It was asserted that Hauptmann, now facing death in the electric chair, is guilty and no other suspects are involved.

"It would be reprehensible, even bordering on criminal, to conceal any evidence that would shed light on the guilt or innocence of Bruno Hauptmann and the division of investigation has no other evidence in this case," Hoover said. He made this statement in commenting on published reports that authorities, including the department of justice, knew of an accomplice and expected to arrest him. Hoover said he was speaking only for the division of investigation.

BARBARA BELL FASHION PATTERNS

Pattern No. 1593-B

Smart Two-Piece Sports Dress

It's a season of square necklines, short cape sleeves, and two-piece construction; therefore, the frock that features all three fashions is doubly welcome to those whose smartness is limited by a strict budget.

The current sports-frock silhouette is straight and slim. Plain wrap-around skirts appear in profusion beneath over-blouses with fitted bodices. Some frocks show two contrasting colors; others are in monotone. This one introduces a charming trimming detail down the side, which suggests endless ideas for the manipulation of fabric with design and color. Stripes can be imagined going in more than one direction. Checks and plaids—always at their best trimmed with their own bias may use it in the pleated sleeves and side band.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1593-B is designed in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20 and 40. Corresponding bust measures 30, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 (34) requires about 4 1/2 yards of 36 inch material.

Tomorrow: Slip and bloomers for girls from two to ten.

PATTERN 5306

If you want your Spring bonnet to be smart—and you know, Spring is just around the corner—let it be crocheted. Here is a toque—somewhat like the popular Princess Marina hat only that it has added dash by having a three-cornered crown. The brim is smartly crocheted in a succession of ribs that look just like fine tucks. Of course, the well-dressed woman must have a purse to match her hat. So here it is, repeating the ribbed effect of the brim—a nice, roomy, pouch bag, stiffened across the top giving it added grace and usefulness. This hat and purse, exclusive Alice Brooks designs, can be made of silk, wool, or string.

In pattern 5306 you will find complete instructions for making the set shown; an illustration of it and of the stitches needed; material requirements. To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to the Kingston Daily Freeman Household Arts Dept., 250 W. 14th Street, New York, N. Y.

played by the orchestra with Frank Cuccia, a student of the Normal, as leader. Mr. Cuccia also gave two violin selections. The honor and merit roll students for the second quarter at the high school have been listed as follows: Honor (general average above 90 per cent), John Butler, Doris Nickerson, Albert Janes and Helena Minard. Merit (general average above 85 per cent), Florence Gierlach, David Lutin, Roger Jackett, Worth Buchanan, Mary Yost, Henry Joslyn, Ray Savage, Shirley Compton, Mildred LeFevre, Helen Thelen, Hubert DuBois, Henriette Wicks, Evelyn Stenberg and Anna DuBois.

Mrs. Samuel Johnston of Monroe visited friends in this vicinity a few days last week.

AGRICULTURE

Baking soda is a by-product of the manufacture of washing soda.

Tomatoes, canned or fresh, have the same health value as oranges.

The Japanese would be as ready to wear summer clothes in winter as to use decorative flowers that are out of season.

The yellow color extracted from the roots of the tumeric plant is used to color some prepared mustards and other condiments, and is also used as a preservative.

Strong soaps or soaps with free alkali will cause wool fibers to become harsh and dry, and ruin cleaned with such soap will wear out more quickly than those washed with a mild soap.

Cloudy or murky food is not always spoiled says the New York state college of home economics, but such food should not even be tasted until it has been boiled actively for ten minutes.

Are you serving a MINUS MEAL?

Many wives, unknowingly, serve "minus meals." The food is good, and well cooked. But it has little or no "bulk"—needed to promote regular habits.

"Minus meals" frequently cause common constipation due to insufficient "bulk" in the diet. Headaches, loss of appetite and flat, spiritless days too often follow.

Correct the "minus meal" by serving Kellogg's All-Bran regularly. Its gentle "bulk" does not break down in the body as much as the fiber in fruits and vegetables. So it is more effective. All-Bran also supplies vitamins B and iron.

Certainly it is better to use this natural food in place of patent medicines. You will probably find daily use usually sufficient. Check your own condition. If needed it is not difficult, see your doctor.

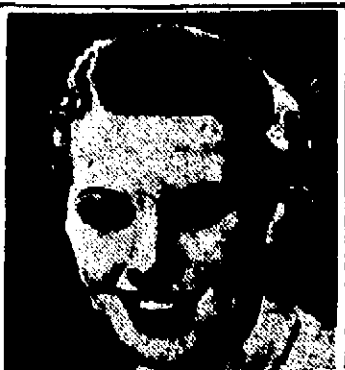

All-Bran remains effective with condensed milk. Serve as a cereal with milk or cream, or cook into porridge, bread, muffins, etc. Get the red and green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

MODES OF THE MOMENT

Heaps of feminine charm enhance the formal note in dinner gowns.
Liane Merwin

Softly alluring is the new "dinner charm and yet is alluring and seductive as well." It is done in filmy black chiffon with a softly draped neckline both front and back—the back descending to a low décolletage caught with a rhinestone clip. An insert of lace is partially revealed through the chiffon on bodice. The lines of the hips are slinky while the graceful fullness of the hem sweeps the floor. The short jacket is shirred into a tailored collar and bow of white pique and the huge sleeves are also finished with a tight cuff of the pique a "creation" for its effect is paradoxical in that it has heaps of feminine

Roosevelt to Request Veterans to Yield All Claims If Bonus Passes

Washington, Feb. 15 (AP).—Leaders in Congress said today that if veterans press for immediate payment of the $2,000,000,000 bonus, President Roosevelt plans to insist that they yield all claims to new pension benefits in the future.

The leaders, who declined to be quoted by name at present, said the President remarked that even though such a bargain might not actually be binding in the future it would constitute at least a "moral" deterrent to new demands.

It was emphasized that the President would not willingly see Congress pass a bonus bill even under that agreement. Opinion in Congress as to what will happen to the bonus bill is still divided.

Men who served in the world war have no outright pensions as veterans, though the President has estimated that in the fiscal year 1934 $34,675,244 must be spent for pension to survivors of dead world war veterans, $5,122,262 as compensation to survivors, $388,493,149 for disability compensation to veterans, $12,285,656 for disability pension and $2,851,900 as retired pay to emergency officers.

These sums total $243,598,360. As the time goes on, they will increase.

The President, a leader reported, is concerned about the annual expenditure that would be involved pensioning all who served in the world war because of what it now costs to maintain Spanish-American and Civil War veterans and their dependents and survivors.

Spanish-American War veterans required $85,039,242 this year and Civil War veterans, $64,082,908.

The Civil War expenditure has begun to decline while that for Spanish-American War veterans is still on the increase. Considering the much larger number of men who served in the world war, the veterans Bureau has estimated that—excluding outright pensions—expenditures on veterans of the last war will exceed a billion dollars a year before decreasing.

Local Death Record

Mary E. Breitenbecker of Irvington, N. Y., and formerly of Kingston, died at the home of her niece, Mrs. Charles Otteson, on Thursday. She is survived by two nieces, Mrs. Charles Otteson and Mrs. John N. Purvis of Kingston and several nephews. Burial will be at Irvington.

Mrs. Anna Lyons Woolsey, one of the oldest residents of Milton, died Thursday at her home after an illness of three weeks. She was 90 years old. A native of Milton, daughter of the late Jesse and Mary Jane Anderson Lyons, she was a great granddaughter of Samuel Lyons, who fought in the Revolutionary War. She was the widow of Joseph Romey Woolsey, long a farmer there. Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. William Covert and Mrs. Clarence P. Meyer, three sons, Jesse Lyons, Joseph Romey, Jr., and Stephen Woolsey, and a sister, Mrs. Grace Simpson.

Frank A. Nesbitt, a resident of Walden for the past 28 years, died Wednesday evening, February 12, at Hobart, N. Y., where he was visiting. He was born 69 years ago, the son of William C. and Maryette Lyons Nesbitt. His wife, the former Della A. Deacon, and three children survive him: Lawrence D. of Boston, Mass.; Harry E. of Ellenville, N. Y.; and Mabel, wife of Alfred N. Nichols, of Walden, N. Y. Also five grandchildren, Egbert N. Nichols, Jeanne, June, Wilkin and Charles C. Nesbitt, Ellenville. Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of the late Charles A. Nesbitt, Hobart, N. Y.

The funeral of Mrs. Peter Dzikowski, who died Monday after a lingering illness, was held from her late home, 13 East Union street, Thursday morning at 9 o'clock, and at the Church of the Immaculate Conception at 9:30 where a high Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of her soul by the Rev. Francis T. Borowski. The church was filled with her relatives and many friends, a silent tribute of the esteem in which the deceased was held. Many floral pieces were sent to the home and were banked around the casket. Also a large number of spiritual bouquets in the form of Mass cards were placed nearby. The bearers were Frank C. Will, George Kolano, Frank Sember, Peter C. Will, Louis Dzikowski and John Schultz. Interment was made in the family plot in Mt. Calvary cemetery where the final obsequies were given by Father Borowski.

Keeler Sentenced To 30 Days in Jail

Arthur Keeler of Albany was committed to the Ulster county jail for 30 days by City Judge Bernard A. Culliton this morning. He was arrested by Patrolman Joseph Fallon for vagrancy Wednesday morning at which time the imposing of sentence was postponed for two days to allow an investigation into his presence in Kingston.

The 20-year-old Albanian was picked up at the Y. M. C. A. by Officers Bert Soper and Ralph Stewart, Tuesday night, because he had been acting strangely, and was lodged in jail for the night.

Wednesday morning when Keeler was taken from his cell, Patrolman Fallon questioned him. The officer was suspicious of him as an automobile thief and placed the vagrancy charge against him.

Following the investigation by Fallon, a teletype message was sent from police headquarters to Albany, regarding the youth's record in that city. According to Officer Fallon it was unsatisfactory, branding the youth as an automobile thief.

Prior to his stop at the Y. M. C. A., Keeler made up a plan to get back to Albany but it failed. He went to the sales rooms of Peter A. Black and asked for a good used car, one for about $500, and a demonstration. Odell Black drove him to Saugerties. There Keeler stopped and is said to have asked Black to get him something from a store; but the salesman refused to leave the car. It is Officer Fallon's contention that if left with the car, Keeler might have attempted to drive it to Albany.

Demand Probe of Home Owners Loan

Washington, Feb. 15 (AP).—New charges of "inefficiency" and "suggestions of graft" were put before the House rules committee today by congressmen who demanded an investigation of the Home Owners Loan Corporation.

Representative Sweeney (D., Ohio), author of the investigation resolution, said he had letters from 45 states complaining about the HOLC.

He quoted one letter from Michigan asserting that "state officials received loans almost immediately while others had to wait months and another from Connecticut saying that loan applicants had to get aid from 'kramling promoters'."

Representative Hoepfel (D., Calif.) joined Sweeney with the assertion that the entire HOLC in Southern California was a "McAdoo stepchild," being used to build up a "machine" for Senator McAdoo (D., Calif.).

Representative Pierce (D., Ore.) said "If Oregon is a sample, we are going to have thousands of homes on the government's hands."

Meanwhile, Chairman Steagall (D., Ala.) of the House banking committee told the House he hoped to be able to complete tomorrow, the administration bill extending the Home Owners Loan Act and appropriating $1,500,000,000 for that purpose. He was given permission to file the committee's report during the week-end recess so that legislation can be acted on the first of next week.

Ulster County Bar Meeting Saturday

Saturday the Ulster County Bar will hold the Hon. John T. Loughran, Judge of the Court of Appeals and the Hon. Harry E. Schriek, Supreme Court Justice, in testimony of their election and appointment to their respective offices.

The annual meeting of the Bar will first be held at the Governor Clinton Hotel at 6:30 p. m. Following the election of officers and the completion of routine business, a talk will be given by District Attorney C. B. Murray on the proposed legislation and bills pending relating to changes in the penal law of the state.

At the close of the meeting, at 7:30 p. m., the dinner will take place, presided over by Harry Fleming, president of the association. The Hon. Walter F. Bliss and Andrew J. Cook are scheduled to speak. It is reported that the occasion is expected to be the best attended of any previous Bar meeting or banquet in the county. Those of the Bar who have not yet made reservations may do so by communicating with Charles De LaVerge, 277 Fair street, chairman of the committee in charge.

Why wonder about that crowd at Fleming? Flocking to the court house and hearing the lawyers wrangle always has been the typical American's idea of good entertainment.

Fox Hated in North, Is Saved in South Ireland

The popular attitude toward the fox differs radically in northern and southern Ireland, says a Detroit Free Press and Chicago Tribune Dublin correspondent.

In the North the fox ranks as vermin, and may be shot or otherwise killed without hindrance. It is an act of virtue to destroy him.

In the South there is an unwritten law among the country people that foxes must be preserved.

In both North and South there is the common grievance against the fox that he is the deadly enemy of the poultry yard. Wherever a pair of foxes establish themselves and have a family, the adjoining farmhouses have to take special precautions against their depredations. They carry off all kinds of poultry and adopt most ingenious devices to get into the hen houses. Even young lambs are frequently the victims.

The different attitude of the people to the fox in the North and South is due to the fact that in the North fox hunting is virtually unknown, while in the South and midlands and in the West several days a week are devoted to this sport.

Members of the hunt recognize the sympathetic support of the farmers, and at the end of each hunting season money is raised among the members of the hunt to compensate for losses to the poultry yards.

Turquoise Regarded as Protection to Its Owner

In the East the turquoise is worn to insure physical well being to its wearer and as a protection against the evil thoughts of others. In Tibet, for instance, says a writer in the Kansas City Star, a popular charm is a small gold or silver box, incrustated with turquoise, and containing little scrolls marked with mystic characters, guaranteed to thwart the malevolent schemes of evil-doers. Here it is also believed that a turquoise will turn pale with the ill-health or ill-fortune of its wearer, a belief that has persistently clung to the turquoise through the centuries.

In many popular beliefs as widespread as this there is usually some grain of truth, and it is possible that the turquoise, which is the least hard of any of the precious stones, is affected by the electricity of the human man.

The ancients believed a turquoise of great value might be found at the end of the rainbow. Another belief, common among North American Indians, was that a turquoise attached to a gun or bow would cause bullet or arrow to go straight to its mark. In time it became symbolical of straightness and fairness in all matters, and in the Seventeenth century nearly every gentleman in Europe wore a turquoise as indication of his high sense of honor.

The Word "Plantation"

The word plantation is derived from the Latin plantatio, meaning "a planting," and was early employed to designate the establishment of a church, the settling of people to a new location, the founding of a colony, says Literary Digest. In the sense, "the settlement of persons in some locality; especially the planting of a colony; colonization," the word dates from 1566. With the meaning, "a settlement in a new or conquered country; a colony," the word dates from 1614. We have the term in this sense in the official name of the state, "Rhode Island and Providence Plantations." The meaning, "an estate or farm, especially in a tropical or subtropical country, on which crops are cultivated, dates back at least to 1706, for it is defined in the sixth edition of Phillips' Dictionary, "a Spot of Ground in America for the planting of Tobacco, Sugarcanes, etc."

Narrow Streets in Athens

In ancient Athens the streets were so narrow and crowded that the lower part of the houses showed signs of wear from the constant contact with the pedestrians. In fact, writes H. W. Creighton, New Brunswick, N. J., in Collier's Weekly, some streets were so narrow that the householders had to give a warning knock on the huddle of their doors before opening them so they would not knock over the passer-by.

A friend of this Column says he believes in prayer but cannot ask for further blessings after having wasted what's already been given.

Where is the Justice? Happiness is very dear, sadness very cheap; Cars and castles bring us cheer, onions make us weep. Travel costs a pile of jack, mumps are thrust right at us; Shows and sherberts set us back, chilblains we get gratis. Halls of fame are gained by grit, jails are soft of entry. Birth brings lots of "please remit," death is complimentary.

Woman (at bridge party)—Does your husband always lie to you? Other Woman—No, some nights I am just too tired to ask questions.

The high-pressure salesman always brings back to our memory that conversation between the little girl and her grandfather: After having heard his oft repeated war stories, she said: "Grandpa, didn't anybody at all help you win the war?"

The Westinghouse Circus at Food Show

A number of interesting exhibits, entitled The Westinghouse Circus, are on display at the Municipal Auditorium, during the food show which will continue the remainder of the week.

One of the exhibits is known as "black light" and is a pure ultra violet radiation, 99 per cent free from visible light. While the demonstration is to acquaint the observer with developments in the electrical world, useful purposes for which this particular development may be used include taking of photographs in the dark, aiding dentists in tooth inspection, increasing egg production, developing a red color in certain fruits, giving good vision at night in the cockpit of an airplane and providing criminologists with an infallible instrument to detect erasures and forgeries.

A second exhibit is the "electric eye"—a device which permits the blowing out of all electric lights in a room and lighting them again with a match. The blowing of breath on a special glass causes moisture to permit an electric current to pass, and the use of a match causes a photo tube connected in the same circuit to perform functions which will again light the electric bulb.

Taming lightning demonstrated that it is possible to render natural lightning harmless, especially when it attacks power lines. The exhibit demonstrates a miniature lightning flash.

Use of the "electric eye" as a watchman is also demonstrated, the interruption of a beam trained on the "eye" causing bars to close preventing theft.

An instrument known as the "Stroboglog" is also on display, which causes a device revolving at high speed to seemingly remain motionless. The instrument is used practically to study a wheel or other device revolving rapidly as if it were motionless.

The "electrynx" or electric palate is on display and is able to determine the different tones of the acidity of juice character and indicate the ripeness of fruits, together with the recording of the acid contents of tea and coffee.

Dirty Jokes
Washington, Feb. 15 (AP)—A lot of things are charged up to Congress but the House of Representatives never had been accused of not being noisy until Ed Wynn, the comedian, came along. Sitting in the gallery listening to the debate yesterday, Wynn remarked: "The jokes they tell down there must be awful dirty. They talk so low I can't hear them."

DECISIONS THAT MADE HISTORY

3. Dred Scott Ruling Rocked Republic, Court Fell Into Disfavor

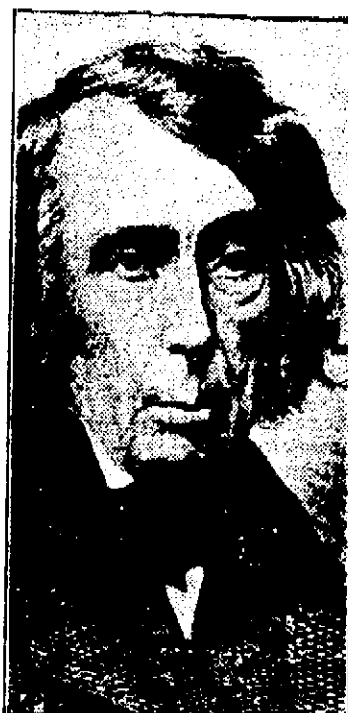

This is the third in a series of five daily articles discussing famous rulings of the supreme court of the United States.

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE
Washington (AP)—The supreme court, passing on "new deal" legislation, has commanded unusual public interest, yet the current stirring of the citizenry is a small rattle compared with the nation-rocking tempest caused by the decision in the Dred Scott case.

That decision of the highest tribunal, holding that negro slaves or descendants of slaves could not become citizens and that congress could not prohibit slavery in the territories, served to widen the rift between the north and south which eventuated in civil war.

Scott, a negro slave, had been taken by his master from Missouri, a slave state, to Illinois, a free state, and thence to that part of the Louisiana territory in which slavery was forbidden by the Missouri Compromise act. He was taken back to Missouri and sold to another master. Scott brought suit to recover his freedom, contending his transfer to Illinois and the northern part of Louisiana territory had made him a free man.

Opinion Delivered
The case was carried to the supreme court of the United States which handed down its decision on March 6, 1857, two days after the inauguration of James Buchanan, who had defeated John Fremont, the first Republican to run for the presidency.

From White's "Biographies"
It was Chief Justice Roger B. Taney who delivered the Dred Scott decision in 1857, ascribed generally as one of the causes of the Civil War.

Chief Justice Taney, who delivered the opinion, declared that Scott as a negro slave had no legal existence and therefore no standing in the courts. In addition to deciding Scott's fate, the opinion went on to attack the validity of the Missouri Compromise for the reason that one of the constitutional functions of congress was the protection of property, that slaves had been recognized in the constitution as property and consequently congress was bound to protect and not to prohibit slavery in the territories.

The decision enraged abolitionists who violently denounced it as an attempt by southern sympathizers on the supreme bench to aid the cause of slavery. Two justices had dissented from the majority opinion. Many northerners contended slaves were regarded by the constitution not as property but as "persons held to service or labor" by state laws.

Seward Attacked Court
Another national sensation was caused when Senator Seward, of New York, in a scathing speech in the United States senate, denounced the Supreme Court and accused members of "a conspiracy to foment slavery upon the United States for all time."

The influence of the supreme court naturally was at a low ebb early in the civil war since the north, which controlled the executive and legislative branches of the federal government, had flouted that tribunal's decision in the Dred Scott case.

In 1861, Chief Justice Taney returned the opinion that the suspension of the writ of habeas corpus was unconstitutional and cited for contempt an officer responsible for its violation. President Lincoln declared the emergency made the suspension constitutional and a marshal sent to arrest the officer for contempt was halted by union soldiers.

Alleged Connections Reported on Utilities

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 15 (AP)—The New York Legislative Committee investigating public utilities reported today it had received information "relating to alleged connections between legislators and public officers and the utility companies."

The committee, in its first report to the legislature, revealed that such information had been "brought to the office."

No details concerning the alleged connections were revealed by the committee, but "private hearings have been held and are still in progress, examining the activities and expenditures of all registered lobbyists."

It said information furnished by legislators and state officials themselves was being tabulated "for the committee's further use."

New York's Legislature appointed the investigating body last April after sensational disclosures by the Federal Trade Commission linking State Senator Warren T. Thayer, Chateaugay Republican, with the Associated Gas and Electric Co. Thayer resigned from the Senate and was found guilty of misconduct.

The Associated and three other holding companies, the committee said, "dominate the electric industry in the state of New York."

The others were listed as Niagara Hudson Power Corp., Consolidated Gas Co., and Long Island Lighting Co.

The committee said in its report that utility stockholders will suffer "loss and grief" unless electric rates are cut sharply.

The committee informed the legislature that its work had shown residential electric costs to be "grossly excessive". It noted, however, that "progressive elements" have taken charge of some companies and "relief is now in sight". The committee said some reductions already have been made, and predicted that others would follow.

Rip Van Winkle Triangle Meeting

The regular meeting of Rip Van Winkle Triangle, Daughters of the Eastern Star, was held at Masonic Hall, 280 Wall street, Thursday evening, February 14. Ethel Mae Jones, the beloved queen, presided over the meeting. All officers were present with the exception of marshal, secretary and color bearer. Following the opening ceremonies the honored guests were received and welcomed. The members of Rip Van Winkle Triangle were honored to have with them on this occasion, Right Worthy Alice M. Scardfield, Associate Grand Matron of the State of New York, Right Worthy May Dean, District Deputy Grand Matron of the Green-Elster District as well as their own Junior Deputy Olympia Cottine. A number of petitions were received and it was decided to hold a ceremonial at the next stated meeting of the Triangle, Thursday evening, February 28.

The members of Rip Van Winkle Triangle have been asked to take part in a degree when Most Worthy May B. Johnston, Grand Matron of the State of New York, officially visits the Green-Elster District, at Catekill Friday evening, March 29. Transportation will be provided and it is hoped that the officers will make a special effort to attend the meeting.

Wrote Note Figuring In Kennamer Trial

fense include Karl Menninger of Topeka, Kas., famed for his studies of the human mind.

The state ended its case late yesterday after developing five major contentions:

That Kennamer confessed when he surrendered December 1 at Tulsa, that he killed Gorrell.

That Kennamer previously had made numerous threats to kill Gorrell. (Premeditation must be proved to convict of murder in Oklahoma.)

That Kennamer said he made prior plans to kill Gorrell at Kansas City, but that his plans were disrupted.

That he left a group of acquaintances a short time before Gorrell was slain, with the announced intention of killing Gorrell.

That he returned later to tell them he had killed Gorrell.

Secret of Macon Crash May Be Told by Crew

San Francisco, Feb. 15 (AP).—The secret of the disaster that wrecked the dirigible Macon and plunged the "Queen of the Skies" into the Pacific may be disclosed today in the stories of five crewmen stationed in the tail of the giant craft.

Faults in structure or design, or a break on control gear have been advanced as possible causes of the Macon's crash. All testimony at yesterday's board of inquiry placed the seat of trouble aft, but no definite cause was determined.

Testimony touched lightly on wind and rain as possible contributing factors and bore heavily on intimations a break in the controls in the rear might have caused the "bad casualty" that started the Macon ship wallowing downward to its end and the death of two members of the crew of 83.

In an interview, Lt. Commander Scott E. Peck, chief navigator of the Macon, who will be called to testify later, gave as his opinion that "if the fins had been constructed strongly enough the accident never would have happened."

Peck also expressed the belief that the edge of the fin next to the body of the ship was first to give way and that jagged pieces of the fin's metal work finally pierced the helium gas cells.

It was brought out in the inquiry the casualty might have been caused in the control, possibly by a piece of fabric torn loose. This might have severed the ship suddenly and occasioned the "jolt" reported by the Macon's skipper, Lt. Com. Herbert V. Wiley.

Lt. Com. Jesse L. Kenworthy, second in command, testified also to the "jolt" but thought it might have come from a gust of wind. However, he admitted under Wiley's questioning fabric caught in the controls would have caused a similar sensation.

Commander Wiley recounted he felt no particular severe wind at the time of the disaster.

Slippery Road Halts Big Greyhound Bus

About 8:30 o'clock Thursday evening as one of the big busses of the Greyhound Line was negotiating the Rosendale hill the icy glare that had formed on the incline caused the bus to swerve off the road. No one was injured, but the Greyhound Line decided, that owing to road conditions it was better to cancel the trip of the bus and the passengers were conveyed to their destination by train. The incident caused a number of rumors to circulate that several people had been injured in a bus accident.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By CLAUDE E. JACOB

New York, Feb. 15 (AP).—The lost appeared to be lifting somewhat in the financial markets today, but visibility was still far from satisfactory to speculative groups.

A steady to firm tone in stocks was encouraging to protagonists of the advance. Although there was little news of an especially stimulating nature, a more cheerful atmosphere seemed to pervade the board-rooms.

Shares of American Chain Preferred got up 3 points and the common was more than a point higher. Among others, fractionally to a point or so firmer, were American Can, Cerro de Pasco, General Motors, Chrysler, Case, Deere, International Harvester, U. S. Getting Street Ready For By-pass of 9-W

The emergency relief bureau this morning placed a gang of men at work excavating East Chester street preparatory to the laying of a new 4-inch water main to replace the present 4-inch main in that street.

The ERB also has a force of men at work laying a combined storm and sanitary sewer in East Chester street from Park street to Wood street.

It was not found practical to lay the water main in the same trench as the sewer due to the different depths at which the pipes are to be laid. This was also due to the fact that there is considerable frost found in the back fill which would cause the pipes to settle.

The ERB will rush the work of laying the new sewer and water system so that there will be no delay when the street will be taken over for by-pass purposes. The proposed new by-pass to 9-W will go from Broadway and East Chester street over East Chester street and thence through City Home lands on Flatbush avenue to the city line and from the city line the new road will hook on to 9-W just beyond the Saugerties road railroad crossing of the West Shore railroad.

Chicago Girl Enters 4th Year of Sleeping

Chicago, Feb. 15 (AP).—Sleeping Patricia Maguire today entered her fourth year in the half-world of semi-consciousness.

The Oak Park girl, who drifted off into slumber on February 15, 1932, continued to sleep in her mother's suburban home, apparently unmindful of the anniversary that was quietly slipping past.

The years, though they have brought momentous changes to the rest of the world, have brought little improvement to the girl, imprisoned in a coma that has baffled physicians. She is able to read simple, printed commands placed before her eyes, she can eat semi-solid foods, replacing the liquids of previous nasal feedings, and she receives massages to prevent atrophy of unused muscles.

Little else makes up the daily routine of the girl as she nears her thirtieth birthday, April 1.

But her mother, Mrs. Peter Milroy, remains hopeful that she will recover.

Held for Action Of the Grand Jury

Walter Lescovics, 23, of Watervliet was arrested Thursday by Corporal Baker and Trooper Klein and after arraignment before Justice Walter Seaman was brought to the Ulster county jail to await the action of the grand jury.

Lescovics is wanted on charges growing out of the theft of an Oldsmobile sedan from the garage of Charles Chapman, who lives on the Milton road at Highland, the morning after New Year's day. At the time Lescovics was traced by Sergeant Lockhart through a Chevrolet roadster which had been left stuck in the snow about two miles south of Highland.

Later Lescovics was arrested at Ravena, at which time it was reported that he was driving a Chevrolet coupe which had been reported stolen from Oosting October 28. The Chapman car was found abandoned at Albany.

He is now brought back to answer to the Ulster county charge.

Thursday's Storm Kept B. P. W. Busy

The storm Thursday kept the Board of Public Works employees busy all day. Yesterday morning the snow was sent out at 8 o'clock and was kept working until 5 o'clock in the afternoon. In addition to this machine, six trucks and 20 men were kept active all day spreading 30 cubic yards of sand, taking care especially of intersections, where accidents would be most likely to happen. If the roads were left icy, the rain which followed the hail storm, and froze as it fell on sidewalks and roads, made sand ineffective in some instances since it formed a coating of ice over it.

Although the storm was regarded by municipal employees as one of the worst this year, so far as turning a hand for traffic, no accidents were reported to the police department.

New Vehicle Hearing

Referee George W. Drexel of the Motor Vehicle Bureau is holding hearings at the courthouse today in the cases of motorists whose right to operate a motor vehicle has been suspended or revoked.

Mr. Drexel said this morning that he had nine hearings scheduled, cases covering the period from December 1. A rather unusual feature in the number of cases involving deaths, at least two of the cases to be heard today being in that class.

Campbell Will Try for Record Within a Week

Daytona Beach, Fla., Feb. 15 (AP).—Both Sir Malcolm Campbell and his mighty Bluebird were ready for another test run up and down the sands today, and it was just a question of whether the beach would work into shape.

The British sportsman—holder of the present world record for land speed at 272.108 miles an hour—gave his powerful car its initial try-out yesterday. It made two false starts and then sped down the beach at something under 300 miles an hour.

Campbell did not try for a new record—he will shoot at the 300-mile-an-hour, five-mile-a-minute mark within a week. He merely wanted to test the Bluebird since its rebuilding.

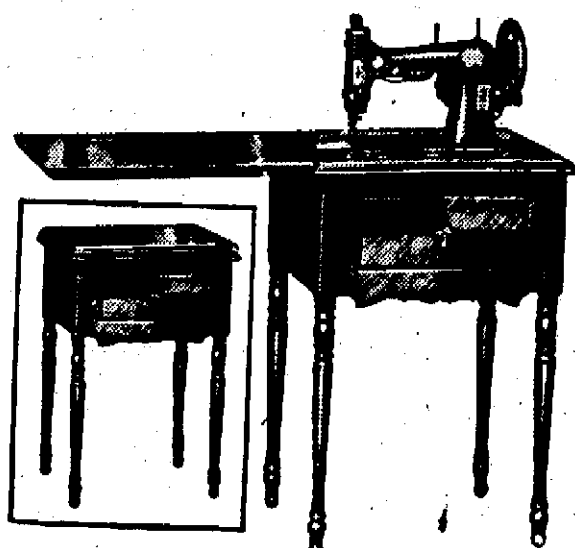

Apparently he learned what he wanted to know. The clutch slipped, the tachometer broke, the brake band burned and the instrument board went haywire.

So he brought the car back to his garage and the six mechanics who accompanied him from England worked all night on the car.

Apparently there was no need to hurry since the beach still lacked a lot of being in shape for high speed tests.

A live-at-home campaign conducted among North Carolina farmers has led to a marked increase in the demand for milch cows in that state.

Wagner to Present A 'Free Man' Measure

Washington, Feb. 14 (AP).—Declaring that the collective bargaining section of the National Industrial Recovery Act has not lived up to its promise, Senator Wagner (D-N.Y.) plans to introduce next week what he terms "a bill to make the worker a free man."

Wagner, who has been one of the New Deal's principal advisors on labor and social matters, is known to have desired administration support for his new bill but such support has not yet been forthcoming.

Although Wagner declined to disclose details of the measure, it is generally believed to contain several provisions sought by the American Federation of Labor, recently at odds with the administration.

Majority rule in collective bargaining, bitterly fought by many industrialists, is said to be one of them and a prohibition against "company unions" another. The national labor relations board, which advocates majority rule, would be expanded and strengthened into a "supreme court" for labor problems.

"It will be a bill to make the worker a free man," the Washington Post quotes Wagner as saying. "It will give him the right to organize and bargain collectively. We thought we had given him the right in the National Industrial Recovery Act when we adopted section 7-A. In practice, however, section 7-A has not lived up to its promise."

"Employers have been given the right to organize and they have used it. Now we must give workers that same right. I consider this bill the most important measure which will come before Congress at this session."

Negro Found Dead Thursday Afternoon

Thursday afternoon Harris Ballard, 40, a negro who resided alone in a shack on the Schults brickyard, was found dead. He was last seen alive about 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, and when fellow employees on the brickyard failed to see him about Thursday they went to the shack and found the door locked. Glancing through the window they saw him slumped down on his bed.

Deputy Sheriff Charles E. McCullough of East Kingston was notified and he got in touch with the Kingston police department. Sergeant Charles Phinney and Dr. John D. Krom went to the brickyard and entered the shack. The found that Ballard was lying on the bed which was drawn close to a kitchen stove and the dead man had his feet in the stove oven. The fire in the stove had gone out.

Dr. Krom after an investigation, stated that death was due to a heart attack. Coroner Leaton D. DuBois of New Paltz was notified and went to the scene with Policeman Howard Kinch, and later turned the body over to Undertaker W. Norman Connor, who removed the body to his undertaking parlors on Fair street.

It was ascertained that Ballard had relatives living in Philadelphia and they were notified of the death, and stated that they would leave for Kingston to make arrangements for the funeral.

Youths May Register Now For CCC Camps

At the local emergency relief bureau on Broadway today it was stated that present plans call for the sending of another contingent of Kingston youths to CCC camps sometime in April. Any youth who is desirous of being enrolled as a member of a CCC camp should register at the relief bureau.

Parent-Teacher Associations

P.T.A. No. 7

Founder's Day was celebrated by the P.T.A. of School No. 7 at its monthly meeting on Wednesday evening, February 13.

The P.T.A. of No. 7 is having a subscription dance on February 22 at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Reynolds Carr or Mrs. Burton Haver.

The attendance banners were awarded to Mrs. Weber's room downstairs and to Miss Feldman's, Miss DeWitt's and Miss Gumaer's rooms upstairs.

After a brief business meeting a Founder's Day program was presented as follows:

Talk—The Origin and Growth of the P.T.A., Mrs. S. Maxwell Taylor
Duet—A Peeping Tom, Thomas Gross and Robert Craft, accompanied by Mrs. Raymond Gross, who wrote the song.

Cornet Solo—In The Garden of Tomorrow, Robert Craft, accompanied by Mrs. R. Gross.

Song—Tommy Lad, Robert Hawkey, accompanied by Mrs. Hawkey.

A beautiful birthday cake was lighted by some of the parents and teachers who each read a quotation on Parent-Teacher Associations.

Refreshments were served and the meeting was then adjourned.

Legionnaires Defeat County All Stars in Fast Game at Rosendale

Basketball fans at Rosendale last night were treated to a hard, fast game when the Kingston Legionnaires defeated the Ulster County All Stars by 15-13. The Kingston team was extended to the limit and only the spectacular play of "Hawk" Kurtyka saved the day. Close guarding was in order and not another Legionnaire scored more than three points. The Hawk played brilliantly and dropped in three fields and three fouls and was high man for both teams.

The Legionnaires were in the lead for the first two periods but Bill Kopp, high scoring forward for the All Stars, dropped in two fields at the start of the third quarter and Bing Van Eiten followed with another and the battle turned into a nip and tuck affair. Husta, Koehler and Kurtyka sank fouls in the last few minutes to give the Kingston five the edge.

In the preliminary game, Battery A of Kingston defeated the Rosendale Royals by 24-13. Geisler was the outstanding star with six fields and a foul. Auchmoody and Snyder scored high for the losers with four points apiece.

Roamers, Cornwells Will Play Tonight

The Kingston Roamers will take on the Saugerties Cornwells tonight at Holy Cross Hall. The game is scheduled to start at 8:45. There will be a preliminary tussle between the 5th Ward Democrats and Olympics. There is a lot of interest in the preliminary game as these two teams battled to a tie for four overtime periods in their first encounter.

The Roamers will be trying to make it two in a row over the Saugerties boys tonight. They won the initial game on Bigelow's court earlier in the season. The Kingston lineup will include Royce, Teetzel, Chipp, Myers, Raichle, Fitzgerald and Bittner. The Cornwells will have Harris, Ribenberg, Voerg, Tongue, Benjamin, Brice and Shackett.

Dancing will follow the main attraction.

Racing Notes

Roman Soldier, which W. Sachsenmaler bought for $7,500 from Max Hirsch early in the season, draws top weight of 126 pounds for the Bahama Handicap, one of Hialeah Park's major stakes for three-year-olds, tomorrow.

Mrs. Charles S. Bromley's Brandon, winner of two races at Hialeah, will pack 122 pounds as will F. Spatola's Wise Prince.

Georgie Watson, the tiny apprentice, has taken the lead in the race for the Hialeah riding championship. Watson scored a double yesterday to bring his total winners for the meeting to date to fifteen.

Slapdash, four-year-old daughter of Stimulus and Tetrarchy which races for the Wheatley stable, has been shipped to Kentucky. She will be bed in the spring.

Eddie Arcaro, contract rider for Warren Wright's Calumet farm, has been engaged to ride Roman Soldier in the $15,000 Florida Derby at Hialeah March 9 and the two-year-old colt, Deliberator, unbeaten in three starts at Miami, for the Everglade Nursery stakes No. 1 tomorrow.

Football Rule Makers At Annual Meet Today

New York, Feb. 15 (AP).—The annual overhauling of the football rules begins today at the Seawall Country Club, Absecon, N. J.

For the next three days, the national football rules committee will study the playing code and changes suggested in it. The discussions will center largely on three changes suggested by the associations of officials and coaches whose representatives sit with the committee in an advisory capacity.

The officials have proposed that the goal posts be returned to the goal line and that forward passing be permitted at any point behind the line of scrimmage instead of a minimum of five yards.

The coaches want a clearer explanation of when a ball carrier's forward progress has been stopped, particularly as it affects lateral passing.

A majority of the committee appeared to favor letting the officials decide as they are on the ground that they have succeeded in opening up the game without sacrificing the safety of the players.

Varsity, Rosendale Win in Y. W. League

Last night on the Y. W. C. A. court, the Varsity girls decisively trimmed the Comforter team by 19-1 and the Rosendale Five defeated Fullers by 13-5. A Kennedy scored high for the winners in the first game with three fields and a foul. She was closely followed by J. Kennedy, who garnered three fields for a count of six. E. Kelder starred for Rosendale in the second game with a total of six.

Cripples Come Back

"I'm in great shape. Never felt better in my life, etc." or words to that effect, is the chorus of the brigade of stars whose careers on the diamond were interrupted by injuries.

Here is one group of baseball players who are most impatient for the training period in the Southland to get underway for they are anxious to prove that their effectiveness has not been impaired.

The veteran "Rabbit" Maranville, refusing to be relegated to the coaches' ranks, insisted on signing a player's contract with the Boston Braves. At 42, he is certain he can come back after the unfortunate spring training accident which kept him out of the game all last season.

Late last March Maranville's leg was broken when he crashed into Norman Kies, a young catcher for the Yankees. It was the beginning of a series of unfortunate developments. The bone failed to mend properly and had to be broken and set four times.

In preparing himself for the comeback, the game little veteran has been jogging several miles daily. His heart is set on making good all over again and having watched this miracle man of baseball for these many, many years, I, for one, would not care to wager against his chances.

Gelbert Determined To Play.

Charlie Gelbert, former Cardinal shortstop, has steadfastly refused to admit that the accidental discharge of a shot-gun ended his playing career when it tore the muscles of his left leg. His persistent efforts, after several operations, have resulted in such improvements, his physicians said, that there is an excellent chance that he will be able to play ball this season.

Gelbert has been signed by the Cardinals and will try to prove his worth. Quite a job he has cut out for himself, trying to regain a place on the team which won the world's championship in such dramatic fashion last fall.

The New York Yankees have three "cripples" to look over at St. Petersburg—Earl Combs, Bill Dickey and Dixie Walker.

The gray-haired Combs was nearing the end of his big league days when he crashed into the wall in St. Louis and seriously injured himself. For days after the crash his very life was despaired of, the question of playing ball again seemed too remote to consider. But time and proper attention have worked wonders for this popular outfielder, and today, to all outward appearances, he looks ready to pick up the loose threads on short notice.

Grove Feels Nary a Twinge.

Bill Dickey should have little difficulty in stepping back into his former role of first string catcher of the Yankees for his injured hand has had sufficient time to heal completely. His other teammate, Dixie Walker, will try to come back into the fold after having been forced to go on the voluntary retired list by a sore arm.

Another victim of the sore arm plague was Lefty Grove, of the Boston Red Sox. Lefty reports that he has not felt the slightest twinge or break in his famous left flipper during the winter vacation of walking, hunting, bowling and working on the rowing machine. He doesn't claim he will regain his blazing 1931 form which netted him 31 victories, but he does promise the Red Sox 20 games.

Joe Hauser, Milwaukee's home run king, suffered a broken knee in a base running accident in Kansas City last summer. But that's ancient history to Joe now. He's ready to start producing homers on a wholesale scale as soon as the season gets underway.

You can't help but admire the courage of these "hard luck" boys—may they get a better break in 1935.

Julius Tellier Has High Run of 60 in Pocket Billiard Tourney

In a scheduled tournament game at Nick's last night, Julius Tellier garnered a cluster of 60, smashing all records for high runs in local tournament play. His high run helped him to defeat John Naccarato by 100 to 29.

Julius, who is one of the crack amateur shots around this section, has had other spectacular runs but last night he reached his peak. Before a small crowd which had gathered around the table, he started to click them off, and did not stop until he had established the new record.

Until last evening 46 was his high mark, with several runs just over 40.

ATTACK RECORDS AT N. Y. A. C. GAMES

It's each season on world records at the New York A. C. games in New York on February 10. Jack Tormance (center), of Louisiana State, promises to temper with the present world-punting record, Charles Hunsicker (left) and Elton Brown (lower right), of Indiana and Pittsburgh, Kas. Teachers College, respectively, will attack the indoor football record. The high-jumping record will be subject to the onslaught of Cornelius Johnson (top, right), Negro star from Compton Junior College, California. (Associated Press Photos)

New York, Feb. 16 (AP).—The St. Louis Cardinals and Detroit Tigers are making a shambles of the baseball legend which says pennant-winning clubs automatically contract salary troubles the following year.

The Cardinals, it is true, may have some little difficulty getting either Joe (Ducky-Wucky) Medwick or Pat Malone to sign but their major headache, Jerome H. (Dixie) Dean is in the fold. Paul Dean hasn't signed, but if he has any differences with the Cardinal front-office they don't seem to be of major calibre.

As for the Tigers, beaten by the Cards in the World Series, they don't seem to have even one full-fledged holdout.

Income Taxpayers In Lower Earnings Brackets Pay Less This Year; In Higher Brackets More

By ALEXANDER H. GEORGE

Washington (AP).—With lower taxes on small incomes and higher levies on large incomes and on estates, the 1935 battle with income returns is getting into full swing throughout the country.

Internal revenue officials say that thousands of taxpayers unfamiliar with the provisions of the revenue act passed by congress last spring, are expressing surprise that their taxes are lower than they were a year ago. Many are under the impression that they have made errors in computing their tax.

A major factor in the reduced levy on the small wage earner is the new allowance of 10 per cent credit on earned net income up to $14,000, with the provision that all income up to $3,000 be considered as "earned." Another sizeable reduction is brought about by the substitution of a 4 per cent normal rate on all income as compared with the previous 4 per cent for the first $4,000 and 8 per cent for all income above $4,000.

Big Income Levy Increased
Levies on big incomes are increased by larger surtaxes in the higher brackets and by the imposition of the surtax on "surtax net incomes" in excess of $4,000. Despite the surtax increase, the

Here Is the New Income Tax in Brief

WHO? Single persons with net incomes of $1,000 or more or gross income of $5,000 or more and married couples, with net incomes of $2,500 or more or gross income of $5,000 or more, must file returns.

WHEN? Filing period which began January 1 will end at midnight on March 15, 1935.

WHERE? Returns should be filed with collector of internal revenue district in which taxpayer lives or has his principal place of business.

HOW? Read instructions on forms on which returns are to be filed. WHAT? Four per cent normal tax on the amount of net income in excess of personal exemptions, credit for dependents, earned income credit, dividends of domestic corporations subject to taxation, and interest on obligations of the United States.

SURTAX? Payable on surtax net income in excess of $4,000.

married taxpayer with a net earned income up to and including $25,000 will pay less this year than he did in 1934.

For example, the married man with no dependents and having a net income of $3,000 will pay a tax of $8 this year as compared with $20 last year, or less than one-half as much. It is computed in this way: A 10 per cent allowance for earned income amounts to $300, which deducted from $3,000 leaves $2,700. Subtraction of the $2,500 exemption for married persons leaves a taxable income of $200, and 4 per cent of that amount is $8.

The married man with no dependents and a net earned income of $5,000 will pay a tax of $80 as compared with $100 a year ago. The man in the same status with an earned income of $25,000 pays $2,489 as compared with $2,520 in 1934.

Persons with earned incomes above $25,000 will pay a higher tax than they did last year although the increase is not relatively large. The 10 per cent credit applies only to earned income, no allowance being granted for revenues derived from investments of various kinds.

Filing Returns Required

Even if allowable deductions and exemptions remove a person from taxpaying liability, the filing of returns is required of every single person who in 1934 had a net income of $1,000 or more or a gross income of $5,000, and of married couples who had a net income of $2,500 or more or a gross income of $5,000 or more.

The period for filing returns, which began on January 1, ends at midnight on Friday, March 15. Failure to receive a form does not relieve the taxpayer of his obligation to file and pay the tax on time.

Decrease Shows

The table below shows comparative tax liability under new and old laws, of married man with no dependents, the decrease being due chiefly to 10 per cent credit on earned income and elimination of 8 per cent normal tax on income in excess of $4,000.

Earned Income Tax Due	This Year	Last Year
$ 3,000	8	20
3,500	26	40
4,000	80	100
4,500	210	255
5,000	415	480
5,500	624	700
6,000	839	920

2-Way Investigation of NRA 'Abuses' Likely

Washington, Feb. 15 (AP)—Senators striving for a broad investigation into charges of "abuses" under NRA sought today to assure such an inquiry despite a dispute which snagged the drive yesterday.

The investigation, it developed today, may be a two-way one.

Senators Nye (R., N. D.) and McCarran (D., Nev.) introduced a resolution proposing an inquiry into 21 charges, including one that NRA had oppressed small business. They met temporary obstruction in a Senate row over what committee should be designated to act.

At the same time, Senators King (D., Utah) and Borah (R., Idaho) prepared to press before a subcommittee of the judiciary committee, the former's plan for investigating NRA "monopoly" charges. King, who is chairman of the subcommittee, asserted that it wants "essential facts" before the administration submits concrete proposals to extend the act.

Senator Borah, who, with Nye, has contended that NRA has discriminated against small business, added: "I have all the facts necessary to satisfy myself in this matter. I for one am opposed to any extension of spread to be sent to the Ashville farm school and for overseas 50 3-inch bandages and 12 operating towels.

Mr. and Mrs. John K. Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Ennis Wood and Mr. and Mrs. James Conn were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Reynolds at East Marlborough Wednesday evening.

Mrs. J. J. Hasbrouck spent Wednesday with her son, Levi Hasbrouck, at the Hotel Woodstock in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Schuhle entertained at dinner Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. John Dusenburge. The party celebrated the birthday of Mrs. Fisher.

A meeting will be held in the Presbyterian Church Monday evening with the Rev. James Nichol, recently returned from Syria, as speaker. This is sponsored by the Evening Reading Circle, Study Group and Mission Circle.

Wilbur Woolsey and son, Richard, are recovering from an attack of pneumonia at their home on Grand street.

Miss Helen Wright is now settled in her beauty parlor from the temporary room which she has used since the theatre building was gutted by fire in the early winter. The former rooms have been decorated in browns and yellow and furnished with new chromium trimmed furniture and since Monday Miss Wright has been meeting her patrons in the new quarters. A direct entrance has been made from the street instead of entering the lobby of the theatre.

"With the wee bit that is left for that rainy day," says poverish Pearl, "heaven help us if it turns out to be a cloud burst."
